

TO REPORT ON FAR EAST—Ernest Hemingway, one of America's foremost foreign correspondents and novelists ("Farewell to Arms," "For Whom the Bell Tolls"), will interpret the complicated Far Eastern situation for readers of The Constitution in a series of articles.

Hemingway Will Give Report On Far East for Constitution

Famous Novelist and Correspondent To Review
Military Situation; Interviews Generalissimo
Kai-shek and Georgia-Educated Wife.

Ernest Hemingway, powerful author and top-flight correspondent, will review the ticklish military situation in the Far East for The Constitution, and the first of his articles will appear Wednesday, June 11.

In Atlanta, Hemingway's articles will appear exclusively in The Constitution, and this newspaper is highly gratified that it has been able to obtain for its readers what will be one of the outstanding journalistic achievements of the present war.

No writer of modern times is better qualified than Hemingway to strip the mystery from Far Eastern warfare and intrigue and reveal the truth to readers of The Constitution. As a field for his particular abilities, no area on the battle-torn globe could provide a more productive ground for this acquisitive reportorial mind and its ceaseless quest for stark realism.

Best-Selling Novels.

Known best, perhaps, for a best-selling procession of novels and short stories, which include the deathless "Farewell to Arms," and his recent sensational "For Whom the Bell Tolls," Hemingway is also an experienced war correspondent and a military strategist of recognized superiority. His trip to the Orient gave him first-hand observation of maneuvers and guerrilla warfare; contact with army chiefs and with men in the ranks. In his first articles he will tell why Japan has temporarily lost her chance of making peace with China; why the United States and Great Britain must decide at what points they will oppose Japan's southern move, and he also answers many other questions that have been uppermost in the minds of Americans.

Interviews Chang Kai-shek. Hemingway interviewed Generalissimo Chang Kai-shek at Chungking, and later conversed with Madame Chang Kai-shek, who received part of her American education at Wesleyan College, in Macon. He also visited Hongkong, Singapore and other outposts of the British Empire and will give readers of The Constitution detailed information as to how well these far-flung strategic points are protected.

Hull Stiffly Warns Vichy To Cease Co-operating in German Aggression; Nazi Plan To Invade Russia Rumored

Pipelines Voted 500,000 British For Seaboard Ready To Move Area by House Against Syria

ICKES SEES RESTRICTIONS ON OIL AND GAS WITH-IN MONTH.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, June 5.—With the populous eastern seaboard facing a possible ban on all pleasure car driving, the house today hurriedly passed a bill providing for pipelines to carry oil to the area.

Such lines are necessary because of the transfer of one-fifth of the nation's tanker fleet to the service of Britain, officials have said. The pipes would run from Texas and Louisiana, and possibly from Illinois and other sources of supply, it was indicated.

Powers Expire.

The bill, which now goes to the senate, would permit government agencies or private concerns to exercise the right of eminent domain to push construction of any pipeline which the President deemed vital to national defense. The powers in the measure would expire June 30, 1943.

An American Automobile Association official pointed out that the region served by tanker transportation included all of New England, large parts of New York state and Pennsylvania, all of New Jersey, the District of Columbia, part of Maryland, Virginia, the Carolinas, and the Atlantic coastal areas of Georgia and Florida.

"A restriction in the use of gas," Ickes told his press conference, "might mean we can't drive for pleasure on any day, or a reduction in house heating."

He explained that facilities now in sight to move oil to the east during the remainder of 1941 and in 1942 were not sufficient. There is no lack of the vital fuel in the oil fields, but the transfer of one-fifth of America's tanker fleet to British service has greatly reduced the means of moving oil to the seaboard from gulf ports.

Urges Daylight Time.

Ickes asserted that daylight saving time should be adopted on a nationwide basis to conserve electric power, and his press conference revealed a sharp schism between him and C. W. Kellogg, president of Edison Electric Institute, who is serving as chief of power for the Office of Production Management.

Referring to a statement by Kellogg that "the power situation will be found to have been adequately provided for," Ickes remarked emphatically: "He certainly was misrepresenting the facts. I do not think it is time for any man to fool himself or the public."

HUGE MIDDLE EAST ARMY
PREPARES TO CHECK
HITLER FORCE.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Europe stirred last night with report and rumor. The most sensational arose in British-allied Turkey and was that the Germans and Rumanians were threatening to attack Soviet Russia. Almost overshadowed was the apparent opening of a full Axis air offensive against Britain in the Middle East.

This beginning of heavy action was signaled by a 90-minute overnight German bombing attack on Alexandria, Egypt, the British naval base in the eastern Mediterranean, in the area of the Suez canal. The attack was the greatest ever delivered there. More than 100 persons were killed and the damage to buildings was great, although an Associated Press correspondent reported that no British warship or naval property was hit.

Vast Plan of Attack.

In Berlin, it was underlined by a declaration, in a publication under the direction of the Nazi high command, that Britain's last positions in the Middle East were now "touched by the point of the German sword," and by a plain intimation that a vast plan of attack had been prepared involving Palestine and the Suez, and Egypt generally.

Britain's Middle Eastern forces—presumed to be half a million strong—appeared finally prepared to march into French Syria, the key of the German offensive, within 48 hours in an effort to beat the Nazis to position.

Moreover, the British government blockaded both Syria and neighboring French-controlled Lebanon, formally terming them "enemy-occupied territory."

Threat to Russia.

The story of the threat to Russia, which was at once pooh-poohed by authorized persons in Rumania as the creation of "coffee house alarmists," was put about by both Turkish and foreign informants in Ankara.

It was to the effect that Germany had 100 divisions—which could mean as many as 1,500,000 men—on the Russian frontier with Poland; that 30 Nazi divisions were massed in Rumania, which long has been a sort of German camping ground; and that the Rumanians had mobilized 25 divisions recently recalled to service.

The implication was that the Germans wanted full access to the great granary of the Ukraine and were ready to strike for it by mid-June if matters were not meantime arranged to their liking.

NAVY AIR HEROES—Remember that thriller some days ago in the west when a Navy air officer dangled from parachute shrouds which became tangled with a plane in mid-air? Here are the two brave aviators who flew alongside in a tiny pursuit ship, scooped the dangling officer into the cockpit and used their propeller to snip the chute's ropes. Secretary of the Navy Knox, right, is presenting them distinguished flying crosses. Hail the heroes: Lieutenant William W. Lowery, center, and Aviation Chief Machinist's Mate John R. McCants.

F. D. R.'s Order Result of Annual Session Vote Is Ignored in Shrouded in Three-Ply Doubt Aviation Strike

North American Walkout Sends Idle Total to 1941 High.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—President Philip Murray, of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, tonight insisted that 12,000 west coast CIO lumber workers accept a Defense Mediation Board recommendation that they end their current strike.

He issued a statement sharply criticizing the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, a CIO affiliate, for rejecting the board's recommendations and denouncing yesterday's statement of IWA President O. M. Orton that the board was a "labor-busting" organization as "a most reprehensible, lying defamation."

A walkout at North American Aviation Corporation's plant at Inglewood, Cal., shot the current total of strike-idle defense workers to a 1941 high of 52,800 yesterday and touched off a series of demands in congress for instant action to restrict work stoppages in industries vital to the armament program.

Like the continuing strike of lumber workers in the Pacific northwest, the order issued by the CIO United Automobile Workers for its members to lay down their tools in the aviation plant was in defiance of President Roosevelt's injunction that recommendations of the Defense Mediation Board be accepted.

President Uninformed.

Inquiries at the White House brought only the statement from Stephen Early, presidential secretary, that Mr. Roosevelt had not been officially apprised of either situation.

At the capitol, however, Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, told the senate that a strike against a plant holding defense orders was "in effect a strike against the United States government."

He introduced legislation to authorize the government to take over any defense plant where production was threatened or delayed by "a strike or other labor disturbances or other cause."

North American aviation, holding United States and British government contracts for $196,000,000 worth of warplanes, has about 11,500 employees at its Inglewood plant.

The union is asking that the minimum wage be increased from 50 to 75 cents an hour and that higher wage scales be increased 10 cents an hour.

Amendment Ahead on Incomplete Official Tabulation, Behind in Complete Unofficial Figures, And May Not Count, Anyway.

Ultimate outcome of Georgia's vote Tuesday on annual sessions of the general assembly was shrouded in three layers of doubt last night. The Associated Press unofficial tabulation indicated the amendment had been voted down by a majority of 114, with 27,801 for and 27,915 against.

Official tabulation of 137 of the state's 159 counties, by Secretary of State John B. Wilson, showed, up to that point, a 738 majority in favor of the proposal. That vote was 24,780 for, and 24,052 against.

Ruling To Be Asked.

Letters were prepared for posting by legislators to ask Attorney General Ellis Arnall for a ruling on the legal status of the amendment if, in the end, it is found that a majority of those who voted in Tuesday's poll gave assent to the proposal. This was because of a "joker" in the amendment requiring that a majority of qualified voters must ratify it instead of a merely majority of those voting, as in the case of the other 69 amendments submitted.

It appeared yesterday the "joker" in the amendment must have crept in while the measure was before the joint conference committee of the house and senate. The original bill as introduced in the senate did not have the "joker" but showed up in a substitute measure which was approved by both houses.

Key Is 1939 Law.

A law approved March 24, 1939, seemed to be the key to the whole argument. In fact, the original proposed amendment cited this law as a basis on how an amendment should be ratified. It required only a majority of those voting on the amendment but went further and in Section 5 said:

"In hereafter proposing amendments to the Constitution it shall not be necessary for the general assembly in the resolution or act proposing same, to provide for the publication and submission of any such amendment, but the same shall be published and submitted to the voters as provided by this act; and any language in any such act or resolution thereafter passed, providing for such submission shall be deemed surplusage and in every case such amendment shall be published and submitted to the voters as provided by this act."

Meanwhile, congressional sources said that a proposed $1-

French-British Relations Also Nearing Crisis

'Sacrifice of American Friendship' Predicted
by Secretary.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, June 5.—The United States served a scarcely veiled notice on France today that it would sacrifice American friendship and assistance if it co-operated with Germany in a policy of "aggression and oppression."

The public statement issued by Secretary of State Hull was regarded as giving France a last chance to renounce such a policy. However, Hull said preliminary official reports indicated that France already had made the choice in favor of becoming an "instrument of aggression."

He declared the policy of French-German collaboration now taking shape "could be utterly inimical to the just rights of other countries," and added:

"We are therefore undertaking as speedily as possible to assemble every material fact and circumstance calculated to shed light on this alleged course of the French government."

Break Threatened. The statement contained an implied threat that American action might take the form of breaking off the "full and friendly diplomatic relationship" which Secretary Hull said had been maintained with the Vichy government. It emphasized that the United States was interested in safeguarding French possessions in the light of the new situation.

Any move toward American occupation of these, however, was expected to await fuller development of the French-German collaboration or definite evidence that they were in danger of being used as a threat to this hemisphere.

Second Statement.

Secretary Hull's statement today was the second by the American government concerning the new French policy. President Roosevelt declared in a statement on May 15 that the American people could hardly believe that the French government would "lend itself to a plan of voluntary alliance implied or otherwise which would apparently deliver up France and its colonial empire."

The new statement came as relations between France and Britain moved rapidly toward a crisis. It was based on a report from Admiral William D. Leahy, United States ambassador to France, who conferred yesterday with Chief of State Henri Petain and Vice Premier Jean Darlan.

It followed increasing indications of active French assistance to the Germans in the Near East, where a new battleground appeared to be opening up.

Measures Reviewed.

The secretary of state reviewed at length the policies and measures which the American government had taken to support the French since the armistice. He said that the United States had given assistance to unoccupied France and to French colonies and possessions all over the world.

The United States, he said, had collaborated with the other American republics and the French government "in safeguarding the welfare and maintaining the integrity" of the French possessions in the new world.

Fair, Warmer Forecast; Rain Promised Sunday

Fair and slightly warmer temperatures, with no rain until Sunday, is the Weather Bureau's prediction for today.

Mercury extremes will vary from a low of 62 degrees to a high of 88 degrees. Yesterday's range was from 62 to 83 degrees, local records disclosed.

Although the bureau admitted the responsibility of local thunderstorms some time today in south Georgia, it added that no substantial rain can be safely assured until the first of the week.

'Gene' Knows His Scripture, Facts Disclose

Shakespeare Had Nothing To Do With Biblical Quotation.

Old red-gallused 'Gene' Talmadge, who's always claimed to know more about 'farmin' than book rasslin' (no matter what the facts), has just finished hanging one around the neck of the South's Standard Newspaper.

'Gene' made a speech Wednesday night about the drouth. Among other statesmanly considerations, such as making 8-year-old boys happy with plenty of work, and harnessing small streams to mill wheels, and he quoted the old saying about the rain falling on the just and unjust. An editor, hearing the speech, telephoned the night force at the newspaper.

"Talmadge's wrong," he said. "That quotation isn't from the Bible—it's from Shakespeare; from the Merchant of Venice. Make your story bring that out."

So the last line of the news story about 'Gene's speech was caused to read:

"The Governor also quoted the Bible on another point when he said the 'rain falls

'Convoy Means War,' Hitler Tells Former U.S. Envoy in Interview

Cudahy, Ex-Ambassador to Belgium, Talks
With Fuehrer.

(This is the first interview Adolf Hitler has given an American in a year. Cudahy, American ambassador to Belgium in 1939-40, went to Berlin more than three months ago to write a series of articles on Nazi Germany and its war aims.)

"Convoy means war," Adolf Hitler told me quietly on the afternoon of May 23 as we sat in the famous living room of his Berghof at Berchtesgaden.

International legal precedents were well established, he said, that escorting munitions, war materials and deadly weapons to an termined by Anglo-Saxon maritime powers for a long time, were thoroughly well known and understood by all legal authorities.

At my side was the celebrated interpreter Paul Schmidt and, across the big round table, Walter Hewel, liaison officer of the German foreign office. Through the largest bay window I have ever seen, the snow-capped Alps seemed startlingly close and white as antimony in the spring sunshine.

Far down, the green valley was polka-dotted with spring flowers. The distant silhouette of Salzburg looked vague and fluttering

ORPHANS OF DEFENSE—THEY WANT HOMES—
Came Adolf Hitler, and this morning there are 79 bewildered, still loyal dogs, mutts, mastiffs, Scotties, shepherds, whose homes were broken up when their masters went off for military service and their mistresses found smaller quarters and sent them to the society for a haven. They're out at the Humane Society's friendly establishment on the Howell Mill road. They're hopeful, but won-

Wholesale Commodity Prices Show Increase

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—The Bureau of Labor Statistics today reported an increase of 0.2 per cent in the general level of wholesale commodity prices for the week ended May 31. The bureau's price index now stands at 85.2 per cent of the 1926 average as compared with 77.8 a year ago.

'Convoy Means War,' Fuehrer Tells Cudahy against a cumulus cloud embankment, like a phantom city.

Portrait of Bismarck.
I was met in the hallway of the Berghof by Herr Hewel and a captain aide. I distinguished a portrait of Bismarck as we went down a passageway and through doors to an oblong room of great height, length and breadth. We descended three steps. At the opposite end of the hall another stairway with iron balustrade leads to the only other exit, a Roman-arched doorway.

The whole color scheme has a garnet tint—the carpet, the marble steps and the coverings of furniture. On both white plaster walls there are swastikas, tapestries and paintings of reclining nudes. The woodwork and the paneling on the ceiling are of shellacked oak. I noticed an oak table, a piano and a bust of Wagner. There were calla lilies and carnations on the table, and hydrangeas in a bowl. A clock struck noisily during our conversation.

I told the Fuehrer that the primary cause of opposition to Germany in the United States was based upon the sentiment that the security of the western hemisphere was threatened by German aggression. People argued that German conquest might go on and on and the next logical field for German military adventure was the two American continents.

Ridiculous Invasion Idea.
He laughed at that and refused to take me seriously. He said the idea of a western hemisphere invasion was about as fantastic as an invasion of the moon.

I replied that, fantastic or not, an eventual attack by Germany on the Americas was feared by a large number of thoughtful American people. He could not believe it, he persisted, because he had too high an opinion of the intelligence and good sense of Americans.

He said he was convinced this invasion story was put out by warmongers against their better knowledge, men who wanted war in the belief it would be profitable for business—an erroneous conception since the last great war had demonstrated that war was ruinous to business.

He said that the German high command considered an invasion of either American continent to be as wildly imaginary as an invasion of the moon and he was confident that Army and Navy chiefs in the United States shared the same views as the German military authorities.

"Why," he asked, "do not the British send more troops to Greece and North Africa?" He answered his own question by saying it was because sufficient transports were not available, although the distances were comparatively short. The combined shipping tonnage of Britain, the United States and Germany would be hopelessly inadequate, he insisted, to transport an army of millions which would be required for a successful conquest of the Western Hemisphere.

The German army, he went on, was not concerned with military expeditions for the sake of showing off or in order to demonstrate that nothing was impossible for German arms. At this writing these armed forces are concerned with an attack of 100 kilometers over open water, in the case of Greece. And England is separated from the continent by only 40 kilometers of open water. If the Crete enterprise seemed difficult, he said, an attack over 4,000 kilometers of open water, as would be the case with the United States, is simply unthinkable.

German Frontier.
He said he had never heard anybody in Germany say that the Mississippi river was a German frontier in the same spirit that the prime minister of Australia had referred to the Rhine as a frontier of that country. But, since the Rhine was their frontier, he had decided to send some Australian prisoners to that famous German river so that they might acquaint themselves with frontier atmosphere.

He assured me that Germany had too many serious problems in Europe ever to give any thought to an American invasion. I told Herr Hitler that many people shared his view that the Atlantic offered too formidable a military obstacle to be surmounted at present, but the same people who expressed this opinion believed that a German triumph would mean economic disaster to the United States.

The reason for this belief, I said, was because of a lower standard of living for workers in Germany and disciplinary methods imposed upon German labor which would never be accepted in the U. S. Therefore American industrial output could not compete with that of Germany.

Defends Reich Standards.
He replied that he did not think the living standard of German workers was so low. The controlling purpose of National Socialism, he said, was to improve living conditions for working people. This effort the war had interrupted, but it would be renewed with redoubled force when peace came, and he had great ambitions for the common man in Germany. Among other things he hoped to see him own an automobile.

He reminded me that Germany, with a population density of 140 persons to the square kilometer, had risen out of depression and provided jobs for all so that there were no longer any unemployed, while the United States, with only 11 per square kilometer, was unable to cope with a very serious unemployment problem.

He asked me why the German nation was singled out as an economic menace to America when Germany had an area of only 600,000 to 700,000 square kilometers and a population of only 85,000,000, while the British Empire had a population of 400,000,000, Japan 100,000,000, Russia 170,000,000 and other nations of the world 500,000,000.

He inquired why, if German competition was so greatly feared, her colonies had been taken away from Germany, and said that development of colonies would have presented a great outlet for German industrial output.

He asked further why the United States was opposed to the organization of Europe so as to provide markets in Europe for German goods, thereby lessening the probability of competition with the United States. Southeastern Europe was, he said, a natural complement to German economy, for the Balkan countries had a surplus of agricultural produce which they could exchange for Germany's industrial products.

That was, he insisted, the "iron rule of trade." No country could buy from another unless it could also sell, and how, he asked, could the United States with its great agricultural surpluses offer to take farm produce from southeastern Europe in payment for American manufactured articles?

I inquired whether or not he envisaged a trade union for Europe with suppression of quotas, tariffs, currency restrictions, etc. He replied that he thought all commercial relations between countries could be assured by long-term trade treaties guaranteeing to both partners a profitable arrangement and suppressing the element of speculation which has always cursed business.

He saw no future in trade relations based on loans because, he told me, loans have to be paid back and the end of borrowing is often bankruptcy.

Future Trade Plans.

The future trade of Germany, he declared, would not be based upon paper but upon exchange of commodity for commodity with an absolute exclusion of speculation. Professors had scorned his economic theories, but in 20 or 30 years, he predicted, they would be teaching them in universities.

I asked about gold and its function in the future international trade of Germany. He said that Germany had been deprived of all its gold by the necessity of paying reparations and had been forced to devise a system of international trade without gold. Yet he recognized the usefulness of gold in providing a more elastic method of mercantile dealing between nations and as a basis of credit.

I then turned to countries occupied by German military forces and asked the Fuehrer if he could indicate in broadest outline his disposition with reference to such nations. I told him frankly my question was inspired by a belief among many Americans that the German domination of Europe meant suppression of native national languages, customs and institutions.

Says Foes Started War.

His reply was that Germany had not commenced this war. War had been declared against Germany by France and England. It was strange, he said, to hear the English discourse on world domination when they held in oppression millions of subject Indians, Egyptians and Arabs.

"We shall settle relations with our neighbors in such a way that all will enjoy peace and prosperity," he summarized.

I returned to the case of Belgium, explaining that my interest had a personal angle because I had lived in that country. His answer was that his formula for the future of Europe was "peace, prosperity and happiness." Germany, he said, was not interested in slaves or the enslavement of any people.

At the conclusion of our discussion, Herr Hitler, stating that he had tried to answer all my inquiries with clarity and candor, expressed skepticism of any beneficial results from this interview. He said that time after time he had tried to emphasize that the position of Germany and his plans were not inimical to the United States but that his efforts had always proved futile.

Reporters Try Field Meal for U. S. Soldiers

Food Is Put Up by Firm That Originated in Tennessee.

By RALPH MCGILL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 6.—Twelve newspaper men, most of whom are but recently returned from London and Germany, today visited a unique defense plant and one which had its origin in a small town in Tennessee.

It was the Indianapolis plant of the Stokely Brothers Company. Months of work with the army commissary has developed a new field ration for the American soldier. It costs, through this new method of feeding when field kitchens are impossible, about 58 or 60 cents per day to give the soldiers three good meals.

Delicious Hash.

The experiments have developed a delicious hash, a splendid mixture of beans and vegetables and meat and another of meat and beans. They are compact cans. They contain each a big meal. The Army is ordering them by the million. Soldiers who have eaten them find them swell and the correspondents back from London say the English would welcome them.

Accompanying them are the other cans, one for each meal. They contain five biscuits, coffee, soluble in hot or cold water; three cubes of sugar and a cube of chocolate.

They are not heavy, not difficult to carry, and give the soldier in the field without field kitchens, excellent, balanced meals.

Of Southern Origin.
The Stokely Company is of southern origin. The story is well known in Tennessee. In the small town of Newport, Tenn., Mrs. Anna Stokely and her sons were hard at work. They grew good vegetables and canned them. Neighbors were the first customers. That was in 1898.

Today there are more than 30 Stokely canning plants in this country. They are the largest canners of vegetables in the world. Years ago they bought over the Van Camp plants.

Today they entertained the touring newspapermen. The Army rations were opened from the cans and the correspondents ate them. They are a critical lot, I can assure you, but they liked them. It is a new type defense plant and one not often thought of in a day when one thinks of guns and planes. But one, of course, equals as important. One must eat.

Huge Engine Plant Now Booms Where Corn Field Was in 1939

Powerful Motor Made by Allison Is Accepted by Army; U. S. Planes To Be Superior to Any in European Countries.

(This is the third in a series of articles by the executive editor of The Constitution, who is making a 10-day tour of defense industries.)

By RALPH MCGILL.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 5.—Two years ago almost to the day O. T. (Pop) Kreusser, of the Allison Airplane Motor Company, stood talking with a farmer in a field where a corn crop recently had been planted.

They argued as to whether the land was worth its price plus the value of a crop of corn or merely plus the cost of the seed.

Today that field is occupied by the expanded motor plant, subsidiary of General Motors, and 400 Allison liquid-cooled motors are coming off the lines each month.

Two hundred motors go to England, mostly already fitted into planes. A few go to China. The others go to fill an Army contract.

Today in the plant where a cornfield spread its curving rows to the sun two years ago, nine Chinese mechanics are learning how to service Allison motors before going to China. Allison motors in airplanes are on the way to China.

Canadians Arrive.

Tomorrow 40 Canadians arrive. The second of such groups to come, they will go to work learning to service the planes for use in England.

The cornfield, now a busy air-conditioned plant where 9,000 men work, is one of the pictures in the story of this country's defense preparation.

The Allison engine is liquid-cooled. The Pratt & Whitney and the Wright motors are air-cooled radial engines. Each has its place in combat aviation.

The air-cooled engine may be a bit more durable. But it is not as fast. The air-cooled engine grows larger and heavier as its horsepower increases. The liquid-cooled engine does not.

The liquid-cooled engine can be streamlined. It is a smaller package. It is not much wider than the pilot who sits in front of it.

There's No Feud.

There is no feud between the two engines. There never has been one. The Army wants one for combat. The Navy and the bombers use the air-cooled engine.

Best friends were amazed in woman's improved looks... new energy... pep!

A marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, underweight, sluggishness and loss of appetite—all by two important steps—

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood. Here's how!

If you are one of those unfortunates who have been ill, or have suffered with colds, the flu, worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have been vexed by overeating worries, yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is good news for you! S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build back deficient blood strength... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Feel and look like yourself again

Yes, when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food... stomachic digestive miseries should vanish. S.S.S. Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble and digestive form to restore your blood to its rich, red color... this makes for greater strength... color in your cheeks... resistance against disease attacks. Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Make the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. You will be delighted with results. Scientific research shows that S.S.S. Tonic usually gets results. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits it has brought to them—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." © S.S.S. Co.

and machines. The tools are coming along, but machines still are lacking.

There were changes in design. Not until this war began was the worth of the supercharger proved. Then they proved two-speed superchargers were necessary. This country has developed a turbo-supercharger which makes it and the one-speed supercharger superior to anything now known in Europe. But we are just getting going on them. Any material change in design means new tools, new machines. Any developments in Europe mean changes.

Shortage in magnesium has added 12 pounds in weight to the Allison engine because it was necessary to substitute aluminum in some parts.

The Army wants more speed at higher altitudes and that means more horsepower. The Army wants the engine to be no heavier. Then come the designers and want armor plate for the pilot and that means more weight and more horsepower.

Engineers Curse.

The engineers curse and do the job. The present Allison motor has twice as much horsepower as it originally was designed to produce and still is the same size. All

We have heard stories, for more than a year, that German fighter planes were not made of good stuff. American officials have seen them.

Nazis' Material Good.

Today they said: "The Germans may use poor stuff in their trainer planes, but their fighter planes are made of good material, as good as anyone has. Their handwork, like ours, is superb."

Air fighting is coming down to be a matter of speeds and altitudes.

Already they are talking about bombing from the stratosphere, and already fighter planes are equipped with oxygen for the fighters.

Therefore the altitudes are important.

The best English fighter plane, the Spitfire, is faster than the Messerschmitt, has more fire power, but cannot climb as high. The altitude abilities of the rival planes are estimated here as follows: and at this height they fight their best: German Messerschmitt, 23,000 to 24,000 feet.

English Spitfire 19,000 to 20,000 feet.

U. S. Fighter Planes.

The American fighter planes rate as follows:

Curtis P-40, at 13,000 feet, the same as the Hurricane.

Airacobra, 16,000 feet.

Lockheed P-38, at 20,000 and more.

The actual height is believed to equal or surpass that of the Messerschmitt.

Speeds also are interesting. The British Spitfire will make, and fight well, at an estimated 366 miles per hour; the Hurricane at 335. The German Messerschmitt fights well at 350 m. p. h. with the 109 model and at 365 miles per hour with the famous 110 model.

The United States' Airacobra, by Bell, engined by Allison, will fight well at 393 miles per hour, the Curtis P-40 at 365 and the Lockheed P-38, closely akin to the Messerschmitt 110, will fight well at better than 425 miles an hour.

Those are something of the statistics of the Army's fighting planes. They are encouraging statistics. But because congress would not listen to the President and to our Army and Navy experts, our industrial leaders, having turned cow pastures and corn fields into factories, not yet are into their best production.

1,500 Per Month.

Pratt and Whitney's famous engine is coming off the lines at about 1,500 per month. Allison expects to have 1,000 a month coming off within a few months. In the first five months of this year they made more planes than they did in all the year 1940. That is how fast production is moving along. But never forget they are producing against a nation which has been in high gear for seven long years during they had the best co-operation from the government in every wish of the military.

We are making better planes. But they just now are being shipped to England. The first of the new type Allison engines are on the way. A few did get to the Near East. Others are on the way to China.

There doesn't seem to be much doubt but that the help this country has sent and is sending is all that is keeping England in the war. It becomes a race to see if our production can be speeded up enough and if tonnage can be had to ship it, in time to save the English.

All sorts of things have contributed to delay. To date labor trouble has not delayed either of the great airplane engine plants. But they have been delayed by strikes in companies which produce parts because here, as at Hartford, many of the parts are made by subcontractors.

There were not enough tools

$29,000,000 Shell Plant for Louisiana

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—The selection of Minden, La., as the location of a $29,000,000 shell loading plant was announced late today by the War Department.

The site is a tract of approximate 16,100 acres southwest of Minden and approximately 23 miles east of Shreveport, the department said.

When completed, the plant will employ about 2,950 persons.

engine producers have done great jobs. Allison had a call from Bell. Bell wanted to put the pilot in front of the engine and in front of him to put a 37-millimeter cannon.

It meant a drive shaft 10 feet long in front of the engine. That had to be a shaft of steel which would take the strain of dives and turn without bending.

And it could not vibrate.

It doesn't. Today that machine is coming off the lines and already they are talking a change in design. It will have the 37-millimeter cannon firing 40 one-and-a-half-inch explosive shells per minute with a range of a mile and a half. It will carry also two .50-caliber guns and two .30-caliber guns. There also will be a 30-caliber gun in each wing. The change in design is to put two in each wing. It will give this type plane eight guns and one cannon. That is encouraging. Seeing it done, talking with the engineers who have done the job and the machine tool men who handle the tools, one wants to cheer.

But then we are just beginning. We are putting hundreds out when the need calls for thousands. Industry, when all things are considered, seems to have done a good job.

It started from scratch. This country's congress had never let the general staff make any plans for war and the general staff wouldn't listen to its best experts.

The new engine, accepted yesterday, will start coming off the Allison lines in nine months and that will be quick time. When one sees one machine, which will trim thick steel as a housewife cuts out a dress by pattern, and knows that it takes months to make one and that dozens are needed: when one sees the amazing tools themselves which do the cutting; which will cut through hard steel as through cheese, which will trim off slices of steel as a country store whittler whittles soft pine, one knows that machine tools aren't to be bought at the ten-cent store tool counter.

We stood with O. T. Kreusser and watched the mechanics take down a tested engine and begin inspecting.

"You've got to have the eye of an eagle and the arms of a midwife to handle airplane engines," he said.

We saw the engines, ready to ship overseas, done up in thick cellophane to keep out water and air. These went into huge boxes. Some will be sunk. It made one feel sick to think of all the work and sweat that goes into one of those engines and to know it may be sent down to the bottom of the sea.

It made one think, too, of the cost of this thing.

This man Hitler has set us to spending money. Yesterday I saw tanks, light tanks, which cost $40,000 to make. Today I saw the driving rod of an engine which begins as almost a ton of steel and ends up as a shining, polished rod 10 feet long. It costs, without profit, $1,000. The carburetor in one engine costs $670. So it goes. We are getting ready.

Our great genius is bound down by lacks, by strikes, by failure to plan. But, it is beginning to move. It is breaking them.

Two years ago a farmer stood talking to a man in a cornfield. Today 400 engines per month are being made there. By December 1,000 engines a month would be coming off the lines.

One can only hope that is not too late. It will be that long and longer, before we get really into production of guns and tanks, planes and all the other materials of war. But we are on the way. And fast.

The Swedish minister to the United States, Wollmar F. Bosstrom, cited these as examples of Scandinavian ingenuity in an address before the Swedish Club of Chicago.

Alabama May See Drastic Electricity Curtailment

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 5.—(AP)—The Alabama Power Company reported today that, although voluntary curtailment in electricity by its consumers had been helpful, "it is insufficient to meet the needs of the emergency."
The company said "unless the situation is relieved at once by widespread heavy and extended general rainfall all over the southeastern hydroelectric watersheds, general curtailment of electricity use in industrial plants will be the only answer to keeping defense industries operating at top speed."

Russia Believed To Want Peace, Not War Spoils

Soviets Fear German Power, Actual Woe of Battle.

(This uncensored dispatch was written by a noted foreign correspondent who has just arrived in Honolulu from Tokyo, where he spent several weeks. Prior to that he had been for several months in Moscow, where his long service as a correspondent has gained him recognition as an authoritative interpreter of the Russian scene.)

By WALTER DURANTY.
North American Newspaper Alliance.
HONOLULU, June 5.—(By Wire)—Soviet Russia's position is perhaps less enviable than it appears.

Superficially, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics seems to have done pretty well from the war so far, having recovered great areas of territory and population which formerly belonged to the czarist empire. Indeed, some people even believe that the Russians fomented the war by making their agreement with Nazi Germany in the summer of 1939, so that England, France and Germany might fight each other to the death and the Russians would pick up the pieces.

Similarly, some people believe that the recent Russian neutrality pact with Japan was intended to encourage the Japanese to involve themselves in a suicidal or at least a highly dangerous conflict with the United States and Great Britain.

Marxist Doctrine.

It is part of Marxist doctrine that capitalist rivalries lead to wars, and wars to revolutions and, therefore, if the Soviet Union is working for a world or even a European revolution it would be logical to suppose that the Soviet Union would try to foment wars. But I do not believe it is true. I think the Russians want peace, not war. For the excellent reason that they fear that, sooner or later, they themselves would be involved in war.

There seems to be a considerable parallel between the present war and the struggle with Napoleon, who also made pacts of friendship with the Russian government, but finally marched on Moscow. The Russians cannot be blind to the fact that if Germany cannot invade Britain and cannot

Farina, Grown Up, Becomes Just Plain Private Hoskins

PRESIDIO OF MONTEREY, Cal., June 5.—(AP)—The signal light flashed red and a comely driver braked her car to a stop.

From the curb stepped a soldier, a young Negro, good nature written all over his beaming face.

The driver pressed the car's horn, leaned out and said: "Say—don't I know you?"

The soldier smiled bashfully. It was a smile remembered by many a moviegoer of the days when "Our Gang" comedies were at their peak.

"I'm Private Allan Hoskins, Company D, 47th Quartermaster Regiment," the soldier replied.

Then the traffic light changed and Claudette Colbert drove on.

"Why didn't you tell her you were Farina?" asked a soldier standing near Private Hoskins. The colored moppet of "Our Gang" comedies replied wistfully:

"Well, Farina was the name of that other guy she was thinking of—a little guy in a white dress whose contract called for more money in a week than I make now in a year. Farina's grown up.

"I'd rather she remembered me as I used to be, before the world lost its sense of humor."

get a decision, somehow she may attack the Ukraine or North Caucasus, or both.

The Russians are perhaps less afraid today than they were a year or more ago. Their strength is greater and the country has made more progress in the last half year. But the shock of initial German victories won by panzer divisions and Stuka dive bombers might be almost fatal to a country which has been under a terrific strain for many years and is perhaps not yet fully recovered from the effects of a three-year purge. That is where the danger might lie.

Although the Red army probably would fight bravely and the solidity and loyalty of the Communist party now appears to be undisputed, there might be some doubt about civilian morale in general if things went badly at first.

Mobilization Of Rumanian Army Reported

Strict Limitations Placed on Railroad Traffic, Vienna Hears.

BUDAPEST, June 5.—(UP)—General mobilization has been ordered in Rumania as well as severe limitations on railroad traffic, effective next Thursday, to the Black Sea port of Constantza and other frontier points, according to advices tonight from Vienna.

The Vienna newspaper Neuss Wiener Tagblatt's Bucharest correspondent said that the general mobilization in Rumania would be completed by June 16.

Evacuation measures already have been carried out in various parts of the country, it was added, and schools have been ordered closed by June 14, earlier than usual.

New severe regulations covering air raid defense have been issued, the Vienna newspaper said, adding that nothing official has been published in Rumania regarding the urgent military measures.

Top Age Limit of 27 Advocated By Selective Service Director

Older Men Lag Behind in Conditioning Games, Do More Complaining, Cause Most Trouble, Officers Say.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(P)—A top age limit of 27 years for men drafted for military service was advocated today by Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service.

Legislators said the draft director told the Senate Military Committee at a closed session that this was the age limit President Roosevelt would fix under a requested amendment to the selective service act. The present draft ages are 21 through 35, but the amendment would empower the President to defer men "by age group."

Chairman Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina, said the senate committee probably would approve the request at a session tomorrow, and other senators suggested that the definite limit of 27 years be written into the legislation.

General Hershey said all men who had reached 27 years on October 16, 1940, would be deferred from training under present plans. He stressed the need for youth in the armed forces.

An informed Army officer said that men above this age limit, already in training, probably would be excused if they so requested.

Senators said General Hershey testified that most of the complaints and trouble with present trainees had come from the older men, 30 to 36 years, who represented only about 10 per cent of those in service. Army officers explained that older men found it difficult to mix with the more numerous younger men and that they were less agile.

As an example they cited a form of "drop-the-handkerchief" used in many companies to keep legs and wind in trim. About 100 men form a circle facing inward and one man drops a stick behind any of the others. This second man is supposed to catch the first before he runs around the circle.

Generally the older men have been outdistanced and winded in this game.

U. S. MUST MAINTAIN DRAFT IN FUTURE, MARSHALL SAYS

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(P)—General George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, believes that the United States will make "a tremendous and crucial error" if it fails to maintain some form of selective service to provide the military force "that we are inevitably going to be required to have in the future."

Marshall told a house appropriations subcommittee he believed that selective service provides the only practical and economical method of maintaining such a military force and added, "I think with all my heart that selective service is a necessity to the maintenance of a true democracy."

FDR Nominates Georgia Colonel

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(P)—President Roosevelt sent to the senate today the nominations of six Army lieutenant colonels to be promoted to colonel.

Among them was Frederic Waldo Whitney, of Athens, Ga., now at Oklahoma City, Okla.

WASP STING KILLS WOMAN.

HOPE, Ark., June 5.—(P)—Mrs. Hugh May, about 35, of Texarkana, died today one hour after being stung by a wasp over the left eye while fishing on Red lake, near Fulton, Ark. An attending physician attributed death to the sting.

Gallup Poll Reveals:

LaGuardia Popularity Is High

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 5.—National attention will be focused in coming weeks on the mayoralty campaign in New York city, where Fiorello H. La Guardia has indicated his willingness to be drafted for a third term. More than ordinary interest attaches to this race not only because La Guardia's recent appointment as civilian defense director has increased his prominence as a national figure, but also because the New York election will be probably the outstanding political contest of 1941.

The Institute's survey asked a representative cross-section of the city's voters:

"If La Guardia runs for reelection as mayor next fall, will you vote for him or against him?"

The results are:

Persons Saying They Will Vote for Him 59%

Persons Saying They Will Vote Against Him 26%

Undecided 15%

The mayor's popularity today compares favorably with his strength at the time of the mayoralty election four years ago. In that race, La Guardia, running on the Republican, Fusion and American Labor Party tickets, polled 60 per cent of the vote, against 40 per cent for Jeremiah T. Mahoney, the Democratic candidate.

One of the most interesting circumstances in the present race is that, though La Guardia ran as a Republican in 1937, he has more strength today among the nearly two million New Yorkers who voted for Roosevelt last November than among the approximately 1,250,000 who cast their presidential votes for Willkie in New York city.

The division of sentiment by parties in the survey follows:

Persons Who Voted for Roosevelt in 1940	Persons Who Voted for Willkie in 1940	For La Guardia	Against

Jane Brewster Is Girls' State's First Governor

87 Students Hold Youth Government Session at G. M. A.

Jane Brewster, of Cedartown, was elected last night governor of the first Girls' State in Georgia, the American Legion Auxiliary-sponsored youth government movement, now in session at Georgia Military Academy at College Park.

Judge Robert Carpenter administered the oath and the new officers heard a charge of the new duties of the supreme court from Chief Justice of the Georgia Supreme Court Charles S. Reid.

Miss Brewster will deliver an address this morning at the state capitol before a special session of the Girls' State after which Governor Talmadge will speak. Mayor LeCraw will speak at the luncheon today at G. M. A.

Eighty-seven high school girls from throughout the state have registered for the convention that has been in session since last Tuesday, seeing democracy functioning on realistic, if miniature, scale all the way from nominations to the counting of ballots.

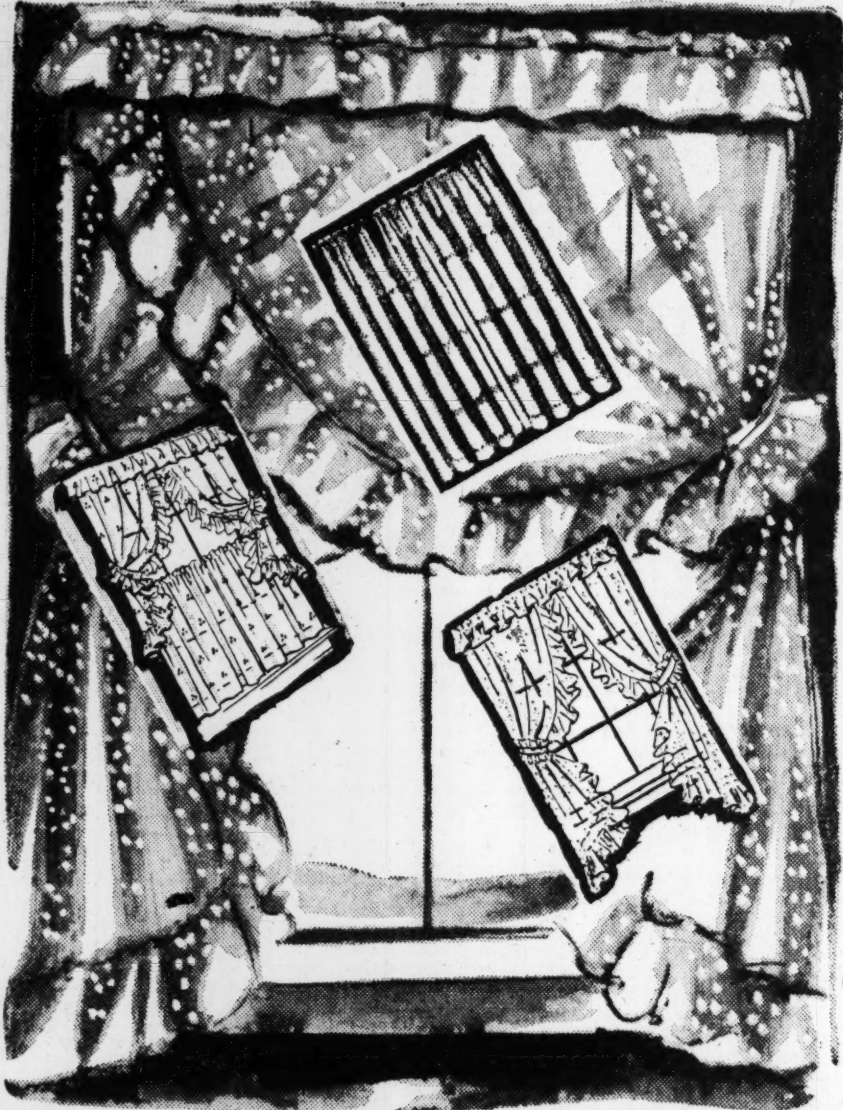

The committee of the American Legion Auxiliary handling this Americanism project are Mrs. G. W. Harris, chairman; Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, Athens; Mrs. W. E. Snitzer, St. Simon Island; Mrs. L. Shields, Columbus; Mrs. H. Fred Bartlett, Atlanta; Mrs. J. F. Johnson, Cedartown; Mrs. Ralph Arwood, Moultrie; Mrs. D. B. Harrell, Brunswick; Mrs. J. P. Gatlin, Augusta, and Mrs. C. R. Sales-Harried Steel Executives Plan New Plants Worth Billion

Acting on OPM Request, Big and Little Mills Will Expand Output by 10 Millions Tons Annually, It Is Learned.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP)—Some of the leading steel men of the country appeared virtually agreed to raise the output of their mills by 10 million tons annually in a gigantic $1,000,000,000 plant expansion program, it was reliably learned today.

Following a series of conferences among top executives of large and small companies in the industry, which discussed a request of the Office of Production Management for the big expansion, usually well-informed steel men said at least the 10-million-ton figure, and perhaps more, would be added to capacity of plants, which are now running at top speed, in the greatest building program in the industry's history.

The conferees, following a meeting of the executive committee of the American Iron & Steel Institute and of the Steel Industry Defense Committee, recently formed industry-wide defense co-operation body, made no announcement.

But steel men in a position to know said leaders of the industry would go to Washington shortly to inform defense officials the 18-month to two-year job of raising the steel-making power of the nation to near 100,000,000 tons annually would be started as soon as technical details could be completed. Capacity is now about 86,000,000 tons a year, with several million tons more now under way.

The gigantic job of construction, however, involving a step-up in facilities all the way from the coal and iron mines, through the ore boats, coal cars, coke ovens, pig-iron furnaces and up to the steel furnaces and finishing mills, presented many thorny problems to the executives in today's meeting, it was reported.

And there were said to be steel men who still thought it doubtful if more capacity were needed. These rested their case, it was said, on figures in the recent report of Gano Dunn to the Office of Production Management, in which it was estimated military and shipbuilding requirements in 1942 (the proposed new plants could not possibly be in production before late 1942), plus export requirements, would still leave 67,000,000 tons for civilian use, more than has ever been used in any one year.

Extent of the technical difficulties with which the steel men wrestled in the day-long session, were indicated by these two facts, experts said:

1. The whole value of existing steel plants at present is about $3,000,000,000. The government's request contemplates adding an additional $1,000,000,000 in the short period of two years.

2. The amount of steel needed just to build the new facilities proposed is estimated at 4,600,000 tons, twice as much as will go this year into the entire merchant ship and naval programs, yet the country's mills already are at virtually full capacity.

Uniform Wage Whitehall Sale In Coal Mines For $200,000 Recommended Year's Largest Mediation Board Rules Against Differential for South.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—The Defense Mediation Board recommended today that soft coal miners and operators in the Appalachian area sign a contract providing for a uniform $7 daily wage and for 10-day vacations with pay.

This would eliminate the present 40-cent differential between wages in southern and northern mines, a step demanded by the United Mine Workers (CIO) and their president, John L. Lewis, under threat of a new stoppage in soft coal production.

William H. Davis, board vice chairman, in making public his recommendations, said the board had asked the United Mine Workers and the northern and southern soft coal producers to notify the board by 6 o'clock in the afternoon of June 9 whether the recommendations were acceptable. The board took over the task of making recommendations for a contract between the mine workers and the operators when direct negotiations collapsed.

Southern mine operators contended they would be forced from business if they gave up the 40-cent differential. Last year, they had paid $5.60 compared with $6 in the north.

The board also approved the union's demand for 10-day vacations with pay.

The board, after a study of comparative costs in the north and south, arrived at the conclusion that the elimination of the 40-cent differential in the daily wage rate would make a difference of between 3 and 3 1-2 cents in the labor costs of southern producers.

"The final point advanced by the operators in the southern section is the assertion that if their Property at Numbers 70-72-74 Transferred for Second Time.

For the second time in eight months, store property at 70-72-74 Whitehall street, S. W., changed hands yesterday at a price approximating $200,000. The building was purchased from the Jackson Realty & Investment Company, Inc., by Mrs. Mildred Oshine Kuniansky, Mrs. Estelle Oshine Stein and Miss Brinah Luas Oshine. The property is assessed at $196,000.

The property was originally owned and occupied by Hirsch Bros., and was sold by the Hirsch heirs to the Jackson company last October. It is now under lease to two national chains, the Rheaslee Shop, millinery, and Gaylard's ladies' ready-to-wear concern. The two-story and basement building fronts 55 feet on Whitehall street and extends back 185 feet.

The sale was negotiated by Jack Adair, president of the Adair Realty & Loan Company, realtors, who states that it represents the largest downtown sale made so far this year.

Chrysler Orders Price Increase

DETROIT, June 5.—(AP)—Chrysler Corporation today announced price increases for its Chrysler, Plymouth and De Soto lines. The Plymouth increases range from $10 to $37; De Soto from $15 to $47, and Chrysler models from $15 to $53.

The increases are effective as of today. The company said the increases are to survive and furnish employment to their miners, the 40-cent differential must be maintained," the board said.

"We do not find any evidence sufficient to support this assertion."

Roosevelt Asks Seaway Work Start at Once

000,000,000 Army construction program would be devoted almost entirely to building new munitions plants. The purpose was to supply new munitions capacity to meet the requirements of the lend-lease program. Previously there had been congressional conjecture that the money would be used for cantonments to house a vastly increased Army.

On the subject of the St. Lawrence seaway, Mr. Roosevelt sent to congress an emphatic message. No comparable power, shipbuilding and transportation facilities could be made available elsewhere within the time it would take to construct the waterway, he said. "Production and more production is the keynote of our all-out race for national defense," he continued. "Electric power and transportation are limiting factors in the production of planes, guns, tanks and ships.

"The enemies of democracy are developing every hydro-electric resource and every waterway from Norway to the Dardanelles. Are we to allow this continent to be outmatched because short-sighted interests oppose the development of one of our greatest resources?"

And, referring to the length of time it would take, he added: "Its authorization will demonstrate to the enemies of democracy that, however long the effort, we intend to outstrip them in the race of production. In the modern world that race determines the rise and fall of nations."

Secretary Stimson was emphatic, too, in his remarks on the property seizure bill. After stating its purpose he said its passage should not be delayed by "frivolous objections" in congress.

He was willing to place a time limit on the measure, he said, if that would relieve "the feeling of those who believe they are putting the crimps on a would-be dictator." And he added:

"On one side, we are being pounded for not going faster and on the other we are meeting frivolous objections to the methods we ask to help us go faster."

He said many machine tools were not in use at all, or were in the hands of second-hand dealers who were "trying to hold up the government." The power involved was needed, too, he said, to obtain great stocks of raw materials, including large quantities of aluminum now held by private industry. And, in addition, there were certain patents held here by the German government which the United States cannot get at or use "without such a law."

Now the night desk is to be supplied with a copy of Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations" for use before impugning the erudition of "Ole Gene."

Mass Defense Output Near in Auto Industry

Transition Point Reached, Association President Tells Builders.

DETROIT, June 5.—(AP)—Alvan Macauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, told the car makers at their annual meeting today that the motor car industry "is at the transition point where make-ready of its first large defense undertakings ends and where volume production begins."

Approaching, he said, is the time when defense production will be on a par with and ultimately ahead of automotive production.

Macauley told the automobile makers that more than 500,000,000 pounds of strategic and critical metals will be made available to defense production through the use of alternate metals in cars. The figures, he said, are based upon a projected reduction of passenger car output for the 1942 model season to a maximum of 3,460,000 units.

Involved in the materials savings, Macauley added, is the practical elimination in passenger car and truck construction of virgin aluminum, zinc and tungsten.

Macauley told his fellow car manufacturers that "the production heads in the government know, as all of you know, that they have no need of commandeering powers or other sweeping authorities to obtain assistance in whatever form it may be required from members of this industry. They have only to spell out the job."

WEEK'S PRODUCTION SHOWS INCREASE

DETROIT, June 5.—(AP)—The automobile industry's assembly plants will turn out 128,283 cars and trucks this week, according to the trade publication, Automotive News. This compares with 103,034 assembled last week and 87,556 this week a year ago, the survey says.

The trade paper places General Motors' output this week at 55,183, compared with last week's holiday curtailed production of 44,143 units; Chrysler assemblies at 29,616 this week, against 23,649 last week, and Ford completions at 25,090, against 20,468.

Ravenna Workers Get Pay Increase

RAVENNA, Ohio, June 5.—(AP) The Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co. announced today a 5-cent-an-hour boost in the 65-cent rate paid 7,000 laborers working on construction of the Ravenna shell-loading plant. The AFL union representing the laborers had sought a 90-cent rate.

Vice President S. E. Hunkin said in a statement that any further labor trouble at the arsenal probably would result in abandonment of the $30,000,000 plant.

Laborers there went on strike two weeks ago seeking a pay raise, and the entire construction job was closed down until an agreement was reached that the laborers would return to work while their wage demands were negotiated.

Jamie and Helen de la Fuente To Be Feted During Visit Here

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • • AMONG INTERESTING VISITORS arriving in the city today are those former Atlantans, Jamie and Helen (Baccus) de la Fuente, and their small daughter, Riccada, of New York. The trio will be guests of Jamie's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Moar, on Peachtree circle, though not for long this time.

You see, Jamie and Helen leave tomorrow for Anniston, Ala., where the former will be best man in the wedding Saturday evening of Jack Dabney Hayes to lovely Florine Douglas Huger. The marriage will be beautifully solemnized at 8 o'clock in the Church of St. Michael, and will be followed by a reception given at the home of Florine's parents. Jack served as Jamie's best man when he and Helen were married several years ago, so now Jamie has come to return the compliment. Riccada will remain with the Moars during her parents' absence.

The pair will return to Atlanta on Sunday, and next Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Moar will give a reception at their Peachtree circle home in their honor. The calling hours will be from 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening. Members of Atlanta's musical circles in particular are invited to meet the honor guests, for both Jamie and Helen are gifted musicians and occupy enviable positions in New York's world of music.

Jamie has gone far in his musical profession since leaving Atlanta to make his home in New York, for he is recognized as one of the city's favorite concert violinists. During the past year he has given 80 concerts, a fact alone which testifies to his universal popularity. In addition, he plays with the Juilliard Symphony Orchestra and the Friends of Music Orchestra. And, as you know, he has played with the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra at Jamestown, N. Y., for the past six summers.

Helen, who is also a violinist of note, combines unusual beauty and charm with her musical gifts. Like her husband, she is also a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music.

However, the small daughter of the talented couple is determined at the early age of two and a half not to be musical. She frankly asserts in her baby jargon, "I am not goin to be a violinist; I am not goin to be a pianist, because I am not goin to practice."

tion of "something borrowed" for good luck.

Isabel's "something old" was the beautiful lace handkerchief that she carried. It was the same one used by her mother, Mrs. John Abney Boykin, at her wedding a number of years ago.

• • • • MEMBERS of the wedding party of Dorothy Aiken and Charles Milender, whose marriage takes place tomorrow, will be honored this evening at the supper to be given by Mrs. Hill Robertson. Mrs. Robertson, you know, has a charming new home on Wesley road, and Sally predicts that it will be a favorite gathering spot for the many friends of its gracious hostess.

Mrs. Robertson has just been elected president of the E. Rivers Parent-Teacher Association, and among this evening's most distinguished guests will be Superintendent and Mrs. Jere Wells. The bride-elect, you recall, is one of E. Rivers' popular teachers.

This evening's hostess is also chairman of the international relations study group of the Atlanta Woman's Club, so her home will be a grand discussion center for her friends who are engaged in varied activities.

• • • • THE BEAUTIFUL gardens surrounding the Pace's Ferry road home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loidans will form the perfect setting for the moonlit concert at which the Chaney Club of the Unitarian-Universalist church will present J. T. Pittman, church organist, next Monday evening. In case you don't know, the Chaney Club comprises the young married women of the church who furnish the music, and they plan to exact a small admission charge to help defray the expenses of their musical programs.

The Chaney Club was named for the late George Leonard Chaney, founder of the Unitarian-Universalist church, who was a religious and cultural leader in Atlanta. He served on the first board of directors of the Carnegie Library, and Mrs. Chaney is credited with having organized the first study club.

Members of the club include Mrs. W. C. Perkins, president; Mrs. Homer Agnew, treasurer; Mesdames Randolph Smith, Herman Gundlach, James Ball, Louis Nickels, L. F. Ferry, Roger Bosworth, William Hiatt and J. T. Pittman.

• • • • DO YOU KNOW: That the latest issue of Town and Country contains charming pictures of Anne Spalding, of New York, and her fiancé, Walter Buck, as well as Billy and Charlotte Woolford Ballenger, whose marriage was a recent event? . . . That the Nancy Keeler recital for the Girls' Circle for Tallulah Falls School netted $98—and that Nancy wore for the occasion a shoulder cluster of cerise geraniums? . . . That Anne Wynn Fleming (Mrs. Bruce) Montgomery created a sensation among her friends recently by wearing as earrings a pair of tiny red enameled apples with green enameled leaves and rhinestone stems? . . . That an Atlanta hostess centered her luncheon table with red flowers recently because they were becoming to her new suntan? . . . That Frank Allcorn's execution of the rumba is "something to write home about?"

This enjoyable affair followed the rehearsal for the young couple's wedding, and climaxed the series of interesting parties that have been given in their honor.

The guests included the members of the bridal party, families and out-of-town guests.

Kle Club Barbecue.

A barbecue will be sponsored by the Kle Club at Grant Park pavilion Saturday from 11:30 to 6 o'clock. Proceeds will be used for the annual charity fund and the public is invited. Tickets may be secured from any member of the club or at the park. Mrs. C. E. McCrary, Main 7105, is general chairman.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT PATTERSON HAMILTON.

Miss Isabel Boykin Becomes Bride of Robert P. Hamilton

Members of fashionable Atlanta society, as well as from other cities, assembled yesterday afternoon at St. Mark Methodist church for the marriage of Miss Isabel Abney Boykin, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Abney Boykin, to Robert Patterson Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson Hamilton, of Pittsburgh, Pa. The nuptials were solemnized at 5:30 o'clock by Dr. Lester Rumble, pastor of the church. Mrs. Paul Bryan, organist, presented a program of music prior to and during the ceremony.

The altar was banked with palms before which was placed a white metal Gothic arch centered with a white Grecian urn filled with Easter lilies and white gladioli. Flanking this arrangement were white columns topped with white urns of flowers. The communion rail was entwined with garlands of fern and tied at each end with white satin bows and clusters of Easter lilies. Cathedral candelabra held lighted white tapers. The family pew was marked by small bouquets of Easter lilies tied with white satin ribbons.

Marion Smith, Sherrard Kennedy, Dr. O. L. VonCannon, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; E. A. Stephens, James Branch, William Akers, Fred Hoyt and Dr. W. L. Funkhouser escorted the guests to their places.

Maid of Honor. Miss Julia Boykin was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a gown of chartreuse marquisette, the bodice being made with a sweetheart neckline and bishop sleeves. The sleeves and the full skirt featured wide inserts of Chantilly lace. She wore a matching halo hat trimmed with flowers in self-material. Her flowers were a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses, California daisies and lavender sweet-peas.

Henry Hamilton, of Pittsburgh, Pa., served as best man for his brother.

The radiant bride, who was given in marriage by her father, presented a picture of exquisite beauty in her handsome gown of ivory satin fashioned on princess lines. The fitted bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline and long tight sleeves that ended in points over the hands. The full, graceful skirt fell into a long, sweeping train. Her veil of Brussels lace, posed over ivory illusion, was held to her hair by a coronet of orange blossoms. Her cascade bouquet was formed of three exotic lavender orchids and white swainsonsa showered in a beaded effect.

Mrs. Boykin, mother of the bride, was attired in shell pink chiffon, self-trimmed, with a matching straw hat trimmed with flowers. Her shoulder bouquet was of orchids. Mrs. Hamilton chose for her son's wedding a model of gold crepe worn with a matching turban trimmed with a veil. Her flowers were orchids.

Al fresco Reception. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Boykin entertained the members of the bridal party, families and out-of-town guests at a reception on the terrace of the Piedmont Driving Club.

The receiving line stood before a background of palms and Australian tree ferns centered by a white column topped by an urn filled with Easter lilies and white gladioli. Artistic arrangements of white flowers adorned the buffet and punch tables.

Later in the evening the couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. The bride traveled in a tailored dress of coral crepe with a full-length coat of sand linen, the sleeves featuring deep shirring at the wrists. Her hat was an off-the-face Breton model of sand straw and her accessories were sand colored with coral trim. A corsage of orchids completed the ensemble. Upon their return the young couple will be prominent

BY JACK TROY

'Splendid Career' KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 5. Between excursions into the rough and brave sallies from sandtraps at the fashionable Belle Meade course, Coach Red Sanders, of Vanderbilt, asked about football prospects in the Atlanta area for next fall.

Red was particularly interested in the draft status of Johnny Bosch, midget Tech back who has caused many a headache for rival coaches.

"I think, in Bosch's case, at least, the Army would be a splendid career; I heartily recommend it," Coach Sanders declared.

Vanderbilt hasn't been threatened with the loss of any players as yet and figures to be on the rise if too many men aren't called to the colors.

Red firmly believes Vanderbilt has an all-American in Jenkins, who blocks and backs up the line; but, of course, he doesn't expect a player whose duties are to clear the path for a fellow ball-carrier and block the path of the enemy to receive such recognition.

"We are satisfied in knowing that he is probably the best line backer Vanderbilt has ever had," Sanders pointed out.

Sanders also made it clear that J. P. Moore, the highly publicized sophomore, is not the ball of fire he is heralded. Red expects one or two other Vandy backs to be better, but is looking for great things in Moore's punting.

Football was dropped and we kept on hacking our way around Pro George Livingstone's fine layout. Paul (Bear) Bryant, another 90 shooter from Vanderbilt, joined us later on. Bryant was the other Alabama end when Don Hutson played, and he was a star in his own right.

A Tough Spot It seems odd to come to Knoxville and not find Major Bob Neyland here. He has always been quite a baseball fan and during the times he wasn't in Florida fishing, he'd be at the games. We'd go out to his home afterward and talk athletics.

Major Neyland always resented insinuations about his Florida fishing. Writers intimated he was fishing for athletes instead of fish. He actually liked to fish. He was one of those fellows who insisted on fishing, and he didn't fail to get some athletes, too. The Major's gone back into the Army as a highly specialized engineer and Vol followers are wondering what is in store for next fall. The Major seemed to have a genius for steering Vol teams through unbeaten seasons, but this did not extend to Bowl games. He lost two out of three of these extra-season extravaganzas.

Vol fans are wondering if the material inherited by Coach John Barnhill, who moves up from line coach to the head man's job, is as good as it has been in recent years. After all, the stars of three bowl games have graduated.

Barnhill is held in high esteem by the followers. He has done a fine job as line coach over the years, but he is now in a real spot such as Major Britton was when Major Neyland accepted a Panama assignment from the Army in 1935.

Chances are the material is a lot better now than it was then. Barnhill's trouble is in following Neyland after three unbeaten seasons. If the Vols lose a game he'll probably be out of the job.

Burge Pounds 2 Home Runs; Bates, Ryan 1

Buddy, Lester on Rampage; Nowak Hurls Brilliantly.

By JACK TROY, Constitution Staff Editor. SMITHSON STADIUM, KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—Staging a spectacular game-winning rally in the eighth, the league-leading Crackers took the opening game of the Smoky series, 8 to 6, this afternoon.

The Crackers were behind, 6 to 3, going into the eighth when a big rally produced five runs and a victory. Among the telling wall-pops was Buddy Bates' home run with two on and a home run by Connie Ryan with one on. Elmer Rummans, who had been going along with a large lead, was the victim.

Rene Cortes collapsed in the first inning and the Smokies took a five-run lead. They scored another run off Ed Nowak in the second, but from then until he retired for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, Nowak held the Smokies scoreless.

It was a brilliant exhibition of relief pitching and Nowak deserved the victory which the Cracker rally gave him. Emil Lochbaum pitched the last two innings and kept the scoreless string intact.

Leaders in Atlanta's 14-hit attack were Bates, with two singles, a double and home run in five times up, and Lester Burge with two home runs and a single in five trips. Burge's homers were his 16th and 17th of the season. He is now only two behind Nashville's Les Fleming.

RYAN HOMERS. Ryan's homer was his only hit of the day and gave the Crackers added insurance. Even a two-run lead doesn't amount to much in this park. Eighty-three homers have been hit to date.

Ailing Emil Malho, directing the team in the enforced absence of Manager Paul Richards, got into the game in the role of pinch-hitter, drew a walk and kept the eighth-inning rally going.

Today's victory was Atlanta's 11th in 12 starts against the Knoxville Braves.

Army To Get Receipts From All-Star Game

Navy Recreation Program Also To Benefit From Detroit Tilt.

DETROIT, June 5.—(P)—Net receipts of baseball's all-star game here July 8, expected to draw a capacity crowd of 57,000 to Briggs stadium, will be turned over to the financing of recreation for the Army and Navy.

Commissioner K. M. Landis and President William Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National leagues, respectively, made this decision today while meeting with Owner Walter O. Briggs, of the Detroit Tigers, to make plans for the game.

In previous years the all-star net receipts have gone to the American Association of Baseball players, benefit organization which aids needy former ball players.

There was no official estimate on what the net receipts of the forthcoming game would be. Admissions range from 50 cents to $1.65. The money will be placed in the hands of the United Service Organization for National Defense, Inc., group which is raising funds for Army and Navy recreation activities.

Hearn, Oliver, Jacket Stars Join Buford

Buford's Shoemakers will open a two-game series with the Callaway Cubs in LaGrange, Ga., Friday afternoon. The clubs will meet again Saturday afternoon there. Sunday afternoon the Buford nine will play in Thomaston, Ga., clashing with Silvertown.

The Shoemakers have added three college stars to their roster, Charles Stevenson, pitcher, from Texas A. & M.; Pluto Oliver, a right-hander from Georgia Tech; and Jim Hearn, an infielder from the same school, have joined the club.

Buford defeated the Dixie Steel nine in Atlanta yesterday afternoon, 8-1, behind the effective hurling of Sugar Cain. John Hyder hit two triples, a double and a single to pace the attack.

Salvo (1-6). Pittsburgh at New York (2)—Butcher (4-4) and Sewell (3-5) vs. Melton (4-3) and Hubbell (2-3) or Schumacher (4-3).

Army Exam Ordered for Burge Slugger's Loss Would Cripple Crackers

Local draft board No. 9 yesterday received a request from a board in Asheville, N. C., to have Lester Burge, slugging first baseman of the Crackers, examined for possible induction into the Army under the selective service act.

The Atlanta club doesn't return home until June 13 and officials of the Atlanta board said they would await his return before having the examination.

Burge is unmarried and if he should go into the Army it would be a serious blow to the league-leading Crackers chances of taking the Southern League pennant.

He is leading the club in runs-batted in, home runs and is hitting well over .300. In addition, he is becoming one of the best fielding first basemen in the league.

Denny Shute Takes Lead in National Open With Brilliant 69

Victor Ghezzi And Harrison Stroke Behind

Little Finishes With 71; Gene Dahlbender Has Score of 79.

By AL SHARP,
Constitution Golf Writer.

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 5. Denny Shute, 36-year-old Chicago veteran, took a one-stroke lead over the field in the first round of the National Golf tournament today with a one-under-par 69. His scores of 36-33, against a card of 35-35, gave a small margin over E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the hog-calling man from Arkansas, and Vic Ghezzi, lengthy New Jersey pro.

Harrison and Ghezzi equaled the card on both sides with pairs of 35s. Back of the leaders at 71 were Lawson Little, defending champion, who recorded 33-38; Harold McSpaden, Gene Kunes, Dick Metz and Jack Ryan, Louisville player, who had the same scores. Little did for each nine.

Very much in the running with 72s were Bunney Torpey, Johnny Morris, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Bill Kaiser, Amateur Harry Todd, T. Kroll and Henry Ransom, of Fort Worth. The local pro had the spectators as well as the reporters in an uproar after his first nine holes. He played them in 31, which is four under par, and equals the open record for one nine.

IRON OFF TEES. Ransom came back in 41 strokes, however, to close at 72. He was using an iron off many tees, proving how straight shots in the fairway count so heavily on this tough layout. At least, he proved it on the front nine.

In the 73 shot were Sam Parks, former champion; Byron Nelson, winner two years ago; Lloyd Mangrum, Willie Klein, Chick Harbert, Craig Wood, Tom O'Connor, Horton Smith, Paul Runyan and Billy Bob Coffey, an amateur.

The list of 74s included Ben Hogan, a co-favorite with Nelson when the odds were posted last night, and Ed Dudley, Augusta pro. Dudley was doing a fine job

Jacket Alumni To Meet Tonight

Former Georgia Tech athletes and alumni in general will gather for the regular business meeting of the Georgia Tech Alumni Association and a showing of the out-of-town Tech Georgia and Notre Dame football pictures of last fall, at the Tech Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock.

All Georgia Tech alumni, their families, dates and members of the faculty are invited to attend.

of getting around the course in par when he ran into a couple of buzzards—a buzzard is two over par—on the 15th and 16th holes. Jack Munger, former Southern Amateur champ, came up with a 41 and 33 to get in that bracket. Others at that figure were J. J. Jacobs, Leonard Dodson, Gene Sarazen, Jim Turnesa, J. Zarahard, Johnny Parker, North Carolina dark horse, and Herman Kaiser.

DAHLBENDER HAS 79. Gene Dahlbender Jr., 17-year-old Atlantan, had a 79 to be tied with Ralph Guldahl, who won the open twice in two starts a few years ago. "That's a good score for a kid," said Tommy Armour, who had a 77 and should have had a 94, according to his own analysis.

Other scores in which you will be interested included:

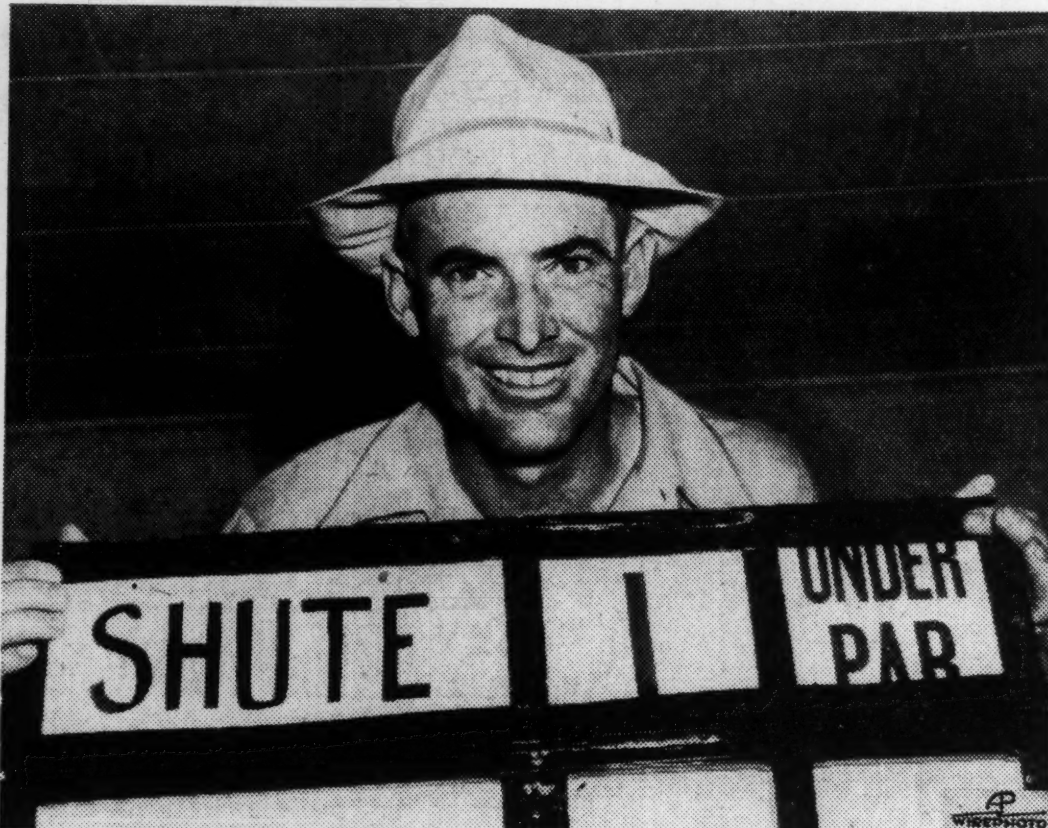

Henry Picard, 43-44-77; Johnny Revolta, 80; Jimmy Demaret, 75; Sam Snead, 76; Harold Van Sickle, of Savannah, 83; Oley Crisman, of Selma, Ala., 76; Jimmy Thompson, 38-43-81; Dick Chapman, national amateur champion, who was three strokes ahead of Dahlbender at 76; Tony Manero, 1936 open winner, 83; Abe Espinosa, 33-43-76; Marvin (Bud) Hard, 76 and Henry Castillo, Louisiana State University pro, 84. Shute, the leader, is a former British open champion and held the PGA title for two years in a row, winning in 1936 and 1937. He was tied in 1939 for the open title, losing when Nelson's came through.

In today's round, he was one over par for the first nine, catching bogeys at the third and fifth and getting a birdie at the fourth, with a 6-foot putt. On the back side, where he was two under with a 33, he played consistent golf. The 14-foot birdie at the 14th and a 7-footed for another at the 18th were the only interruptions in his string of pars.

HARRISON CONSISTENT. Harrison, who was disqualified last year along with Porky Oliver and Johnny Bulla before taking a total of 291, just four strokes back of the tied leaders, Little and Sarazen, was consistent, to say the least.

He had two bogeys on the front and back and two birdies on both sides. His birdies on the front dropped from 12 and 30 feet and the ones on the back from 10 and six feet. The bogeys, following the usual rule, were the results of mixed greens except on the first holes. There he started by driving into sandtrap.

Ghezzi was close enough for three birdies on the last three holes to grab his par score. Another round is scheduled tomorrow and then the fellows will start shooting through the maze of blue chips, which make grand hazards even if pressure is intangible.

DENNY A HAPPY MAN—Denny Shute, of Chicago, was a smiling man behind that scoreboard showing he had a 69, first subpar round in the 1941 National Open golf tournament. He was a stroke ahead of Dutch Harrison and Vic Ghezzi, in second place.

Two Bad Holes By Dahlbender Raise Score

Gene Loses 5 Strokes to Par on 9 and 14 for 79 in U. S. Open.

COLONIAL COUNTRY CLUB, FORT WORTH, Texas, June 5.—Two bad holes sent Gene Dahlbender's score to 40-39-79 today as he started firing in his first National Open tournament.

He lost five strokes to par on the ninth and 14th, taking a 2-over-par 6 at the ninth and a 3-over-par 7 at the other one.

In a way, the 6 at the ninth was not deserved, but the 7 was of his own making. He missed two drives badly on that fairly easy par 4, and the first one was out of bounds. The second was deep in the rough. Both tee shots were sliced, and that is unusual for Dahlbender, who has a long hook as a rule when he is not hitting the ball straight.

On the ninth hole he hit a beautiful drive. It was straight. If it had hooked a few feet the ball would have been in fine shape. If it had been a foot higher it would have been in the middle of the fairway.

But it caught the top edge of a trap on the right and stayed in the sand. His second shot was two feet short of the green and in the pond.

He played the other 16 holes well enough after starting with a bogey 6.

Twice on the first nine he connected for 325-yard drives. He was getting distance and keeping the ball straight. One of those long ones came at the fifth, which Bob Jones calls the toughest tee shot he has seen. He used a 8-iron to the green on the 469-yard hole, going 20 feet past the pin. Then he three-putted.

He was playing the par-3 holes well, having one birdie, his only one, and three pars on them. The deuce came at the 13th on a 20-foot putt that made him one under on the back side. Then up jumped the seven.

To give you an idea of the distance you get in this air, take the fourth hole. It is listed at 220 yards. Gene was in the middle of the green with a 4-iron shot.

Three Share Bogey At East Lake Club

Three golfers hit the East Lake blind bogey, 80, yesterday. They were H. L. Gilham, H. M. Paschal, and F. A. Lyon. George Suggs was the only one with a 79, while Barney Barrett, V. E. Allen, J. S. Bick and J. C. Malone marked down 78.

Grant Advances To Semi-Finals

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—(P)—Top-seeded players advanced with little difficulty today in the annual Heart of America tennis tournament.

Frankie Parker, Altadena, Cal., defending champion and seeded No. 2, gained the semi-final round with a 6-2, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Gene Mako, Los Angeles, No. 6, while Bobby Riggs, Chicago, seeded No. 1, entered the quarter-finals by defeating Frank Thompson, St. Louis, 6-4, 6-1.

Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, Atlanta, seventh seeded, also advanced to the semi-final round. He eliminated Ed Alloo, Winter Park, Fla., 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

The win today also ended a two-game losing streak and saw Buddy Bates snap out of a batting slump. Bates fanned 11: first time up and was unstopable thereafter.

Atlanta Awarded Letter at Oberlin

OBERLIN, Ohio, June 5.—Frank W. Clelland Jr., sophomore, of 36 Gammon avenue, Atlanta, Ga., was awarded his first letter in varsity baseball here at the annual spring sports banquet.

Clelland played third base and caught during the season on the Oberlin College team.

Boys' High Teams Won 8 Titles in 1940-1941

Members of Spring Sports Team Feted by Alumni Association at 'Victory Year' Dinner.

By JOHN MARTIN.

It's a good thing that school is out. Boys' High's athletic teams have run out of something to win, and summer would be awfully drab without a championship to take.

The Purples won everything but the fly-tying championship of the Boggy Gut Creek Fishing Club during the past year and last night they picked their way through a roomful of silver to accept the annual dinner given by the Boys' High Athletic Alumni Association. All except the football and basketball squads.

The Purple gridgers and cagers already had had their offerings. They won both the city and G. I. A. A. championships. And it proved to be a bad habit—at least for the opposition.

For right on top of it came the baseball, tennis, golf, bowling and track teams to clutter up the trophy room with an assortment of metal big enough to build a destroyer.

Last night's food-fest was appropriately called the "Victory Year" dinner. The Purples got together around appetizing and filling plates prepared by "Ma" Crawford to learn that this has been their most glorious season in athletics.

All the coaches were there and most of the members of the spring sports teams. When the returns were added they learned that Boys' High had won eight championships in 1940-41. This included football and basketball, in addition to the after-Christmas sports. Participants in these sports were awarded letters at the dinner.

Little Joe Gerson, former Purple diamond star, and Billy Masengale, former football luminary, represented the alumni association. Gerson presided.

It was a lot of fun—this final get-together of what Coach Henry Doyal described as the "grandest bunch of gentlemen ever to represent the school in athletic com-

Kluk was counted on to be the first string Georgia blocking back this fall but signed a professional contract, making him ineligible for further college sports.

ably be viewed as a burn coach in the eyes of the camp followers.

Engel Responds The staid old Southern League has had a shot in the arm. For a time the runaway Crackers threatened to kill interest. However, turn of events have made Atlanta a target for all the rest and Atlanta, in turn, has declared war on the league.

Manager Paul Richards today declined to accept the "honor" conferred upon him by a Chattanooga writer. This writer named Richards the league's umpire in chief.

"If I did have that job," declared Richards, "there is convulsing from the wounds of a three-day suspension slapped on by the league prexy, 'there wouldn't be any staff.'"

The Crackers move on to Chattanooga from here and today a wire was received from Joe Engel as follows:

"Jack Troy, Sports Editor, care Atlanta Baseball Club, Knoxville, Tenn:

"Have heard of the World War, the Battle of Waterloo and War of Roses but why start the War of Pansies stop Regards to the umpire in chief."

"JOE W. ENGEL." Richards, militant Cracker chieftain, didn't realize he was held in such fearsome aspect by the umpires until he read Knoxville Manager Fred Lindstrom's umpire-baiting allegations.

Lindstrom said Richards frightened the umpires and that consequently they are working in constant fear, or words to that effect.

"They sure scare mighty easy," Richards replied.

Real Aggressors Lindstrom's statement sounded about as childish as his charges that Richards started Knoxville to stalling in that memorable game of recent date in Atlanta.

It is just barely possible that, while he played in the big leagues for a long time, Lindstrom never heard of fellows like Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Dykes.

Richards is a piker compared with these two. At least Richards carries on his battles alone. Dykes and Frisch, who are thrown out of games at least once a week, usually swarm out with a bunch of players and put on the old riot act.

But I hadn't heard anything about the umpires being afraid of Frisch and Dykes, had you?

Oh, well, in a couple of days the suspension will be lifted and Richards, the Lion Hearted, will rally forth in new battles.

Per Cent Increase Over Last Year.

Mission receipts were up over 30 per cent in May, Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary-treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, revealed in his report yesterday.

Total offerings were $139,117.65, compared with $105,990.14 in May last year. This was an increase of $33,127.51, or 31 per cent.

For the five months' period ending May 31, the mission treasurer stated that gifts received totaled $391,727.99, an increase of $55,837.91 over the total of $335,890.08 for the same period in 1940.

One new mission in Atlanta has been established this week, the Rev. S. F. Dowis, new missionary for the city, announced. He indicated that two more would be started in the next few days as he outlined plans for the work which he began June 1 following his resignation as pastor of Virginia Avenue Baptist church of Atlanta.

Miss Mary Etheridge, of Atlanta, appointed last week by the board to work among the Chinese in El Paso, Texas, spoke to the board of her "divine call to the Chinese field." The new missionary, daughter of Judge Paul S. Etheridge, graduated in May from the W. M. U. Training School in Louisville, her preparation there being for Chinese work. The board authorized Dr. Lawrence and Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, president, to appoint a chaplaincy committee of which they are to be members.

House Unit Asks
92 Million for Coast DefensesLong-Range Guns Are Sought To Relieve Warships, Planes.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today expenditure of $92,000,000 for modern long-range guns along the coast so that warships and planes might be freed from harbor defense "to seek the enemy wherever he may be."

Much of the money would be spent in the northeast.

"Our Navy wants to be left free so that it can get out and seek the enemy and be able to defend our sea lanes," Major General Joseph A. Green told the committee in advocating the appropriation.

"The primary mission of the air force is not to defend our harbors from an enemy," he added, "but to seek the enemy wherever he may be."

"Possibility of a less active English fleet in the Atlantic," was cited by General George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

With Noticeable
Suspense.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, June 5.—(AP)—Japan's year-long efforts to draw from the Indies great quantities of such war essentials as rubber, oil and tin, tottered tonight on what the chief Japanese negotiator himself called "the edge of a precipice."

With friendly relations thus delicately poised, the Dutch have promised to reply formally to the Japanese demands tomorrow. Reliable sources indicated that the Dutch would offer fractional concessions and that the Japanese would refuse.

Further, the Dutch reserve the right to cut quotas still further if British or United States war industries required it.

Many Frenchmen Dare
Nazi Wrath To Protest Collaboration.

VICHY, June 5.—(UP)—France was reported in Paris dispatches today to be joining Germany in "military collaboration" as French citizens, daring punishment, poured letters into the United States embassy here protesting against the swiftly moving pro-German trend of Vichy's policy.

By tonight more than 400 letters, most of them signed only with initials, had arrived at the embassy in response to an appeal by the "Free French" radio in London urging the people of unoccupied France to write to United States Ambassador William D. Leahy and oppose the French-German "collaboration."

Except for a few which blamed Ambassador Leahy for "meddling" in French affairs and which will be answered, the letters were quickly destroyed, to prevent them from possibly falling into the hands of those who might exact punishments.

It was reported that about 19 out of every 20 of the letters reaching the embassy had expressed strong opposition to the Vichy government's stronger line of "collaboration" with Germany.

Leahy refused comment of any kind on the letters.

The French government, presumably as result of recommendations by General Maxime Weygand, was understood reliably tonight to have taken "precautionary measures" in Syria.

The French press warned angrily against heeding the "Free French" letters and the Catholic daily newspaper, Action Francaise, said:

"Perfidious Albion has an old habit of unseemingly revolution among us. Britain wants to see France reduced to the same fate as Greece and Yugoslavia."

Rail Employment
Increased for May

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—Railway employment in May reached the highest point since September, 1937, when it was 1,153,002.

In reporting this today, the Interstate Commerce Commission said that in mid-May Class I railways had 1,124,719 employees, an increase of 4.05 per cent over April and 11.05 over May, 1940.

The peak of railway employment was approximately 2,000,000 in the days of the railroad administration following the World War. A more recent high was 1,553,713 in May, 1937.

The ICC's employment index reached new highs in May. Adjusted for seasonal variation it stood at 108.9 compared with 106.8 in April and 98.1 in May, 1940.

Income on FSA Farms
Shows Gain at Rome

ROME, Ga., June 5.—Showing a 52 per cent gain over the previous year, the net income for 3,021 Seventh district borrowers of the Farm Security Administration program averaged $475 in 1940, according to Congressman M. C. Tarver.

In completing a study of the FSA operations in the Seventh district, Congressman Tarver found that the borrowers in the 14 north-west Georgia counties had a net worth of $518 per borrower last year, representing a 44 per cent gain over the previous year.

Annual income increases for the district borrowers was just shy of the half-million-dollar mark and net value increases were listed by the Seventh district representative at $478,436.

Loans in the district as of December 31, 1940, totaled $1,490,599 and repayments at that time totaled $667,387.

Klonvokation
Plans Call for National UnityKu Klux Klan Opens
10th Biennial Convention Here.

Action calling upon "isolationists and interventionists" to forget their disputes and present a united front toward winning the war yesterday was forecast as one of the results of the Ku Klux Klan 10th biennial klonvokation, now in session here.

Although the business meetings of the convention today and tomorrow are behind closed doors, the Klan is reported to be planning to call for national unity at its final—and public—session tomorrow night.

Imperial Wizard James A. Cole, of Atlanta, in announcing the tradition-breaking public meeting at Stone Mountain tomorrow, said the final session of klonvokation was being thrown open because of "the national emergency and the important message which the Klan wishes to announce at that time."

More than 500 members of the organization, representing 48 states, opened their convention last night in the Henry Grady hotel. It will continue through tomorrow in secret session.

British Expect
James Roosevelt

LONDON, Friday, June 6.—(AP)—It was reliably reported here early today that Captain James Roosevelt would arrive in England Monday.

Captain Roosevelt and Major Gerald Thomas, both of the United States Marines, left Cairo, Egypt, Sunday after three weeks as special observers with Britain's forces in the Middle East.

They went to Egypt from the Far East, and upon leaving Cairo were understood to be headed home, prepared to submit a report on Britain's specific needs of war materials in the Middle East, along with recommendations on how to get there quickly.

Known as "The Colonel" to generations of Harvard men, including President Roosevelt, because of the efficient manner in which he quelled even the stormiest of student high jinks, Apter numbered many of the university's great among his personal friends.

Kentucky Hospitality—

COVINGTON, Ky., June 5.—(AP)—Here's Kentucky hospitality for you: Patrolman Harry Burgess arrested two youths registered as N. Jack Smith, Indianapolis, and Phillip Hicks, of Covington, early today on speeding charges.

Both youths were accompanied by girl companions. Smith was detained, pending court at 8:30 a. m. Smith's girl friend and the other couple were at a loss how to pass the time until Smith's arraignment.

Burgess said "Come home with me," telephoned his wife that she'd have unexpected guests—and entertained them until court time. Smith was fined $10.

Evening School Scholar Gains Fourth Degree

Night Student 15 Years,
King Is Master of Laws.

Henry E. King, B. S. C., M. S. C., LL.B. and LL.M. is 30 years old and he has been going to school nearly every night except Sunday for the past 15 years.

He goes to school at night because he works in the daytime. He started with an insurance firm 15 years ago in a very small capacity and is now secretary and treasurer of the firm.

He remembers, vaguely, how it felt to go to school in the daytime. He finished grammar school at R. L. Hope, and went one year to Fulton High. Then he decided to go to work.

But he soon perceived that a man with one year of high school wasn't going to get very far. He set out to remedy the situation. He enrolled in Tech Evening school and started taking a college course, at the same time making up the high school work he needed. He got his 16 1-4 high school credits in three years, and got his bachelor of science degree in four.

He was not content with this, though, and shifted over to the University of Georgia Evening school, which had taken over the commerce work of the old Tech Evening school, and got his master of science in commerce. At the same time he had been taking all the law he could, so he went on and passed the Georgia bar exams.

Out of school in 1939—having married in the meanwhile—he couldn't get used to sitting around the house at night doing nothing. So he enrolled in Atlanta Law school and got his LL.B. degree in 1940.

—And that didn't satisfy him. So

STUDENT—Henry E. King, 30, of 34 Peachtree avenue, has been going to school at night for 15 years, collecting a string of degrees. Last night he got his master of laws degree from Atlanta Law School. Now he wants to be a G-man.

last night, after one more year of night school work, he graduated a full-fledged master of laws.

Now he's thinking about asking Uncle Sam for a job as a G-man.

BIG FISH AND THEN SOME.

Charlie Onyett, of Oroville, Cal., got more than his money's worth when he landed a three-pound rainbow trout, 20 1-2 inches long, in the Feather river near here. The fish had an artificial red ant and about a foot of leader hanging from its mouth.

Cotton Group Formed To Aid Stamp Plan

Dorsen Chosen Chairman, Unit Will Introduce Measure.

Use of wartime techniques to arouse enthusiasm in introducing the federal cotton stamp plan in Fulton county was decided on yesterday as a Cotton Industry Committee was formed with A. Robert Dorsen, president of High's, as chairman, and Channing Cope, agricultural manager of the Georgia Power Company, as secretary.

The committee will set up an organization among farmers and merchants for converting the estimated $500,000 of cotton stamps—awarded farmers for reducing cotton acreage—into finished cotton products.

Every important mercantile interest in the county was represented at the session. It was decided that mass meetings should be held among clerks and others attached to the cotton goods departments of all city and county stores, to instruct them in the plan and create interest in selling finished cotton products.

Frank Carter, president of the Chamber of Commerce; J. Sid Truitt, county agricultural agent; Representative Cicero Kendrick; J. Sherrard Kennedy, vice president of the First National Bank; L. L. Austin, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association; Lambdin Kay, of the Social Planning Council, and more than a score of representatives of stores, press and radio, participated in the meeting.

It was explained by William R. Kaplan, speaking for the Federal Surplus Marketing Administration, that farmers will be allotted an average of $25 each, and in a few instances $50, in stamps, for reducing cotton acreage. The stamps, to be redeemed by the federal treasury, have full face value in buying finished cotton goods.

South Fulton residents will be informed of the plan in a meeting at Fairburn, in the old courthouse, June 13, and north Fulton will stage a rally at the Roswell school June 10. The session for Atlanta and the central section of the county will be decided by the committee, probably at a meeting today.

Walter Grobli Sentenced for N. Y. Shooting

Son of Atlanta Woman
Pleads Guilty to 2nd
Degree Assault.

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP)—Walter Grobli, 19-year-old houseboy, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in Elmira reformatory today for the South Nyack shooting last January 19 of his employer, Percival W. Whittlesey, for many years secretary to Pierre A. Bernard, cult leader known as "Oom the Omnipotent."

Grobli pleaded guilty Monday to second-degree assault while armed, withdrawing his innocent plea after his mother, Mrs. Margaret Reid, of Atlanta, had conferred with him and Rockland county authorities.

Whittlesey recovered from six gunshot wounds inflicted by Grobli after an argument over a phonograph recording of a German song.

Grobli was described by George V. Dorsey, Rockland county prosecutor, as a youth who had made Nordic supremacy his "ruling passion," while Whittlesey was actively pro-British. Grobli was taken into custody in Minneapolis in April.

Clothes Ration Affects Palace

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—King George has instructed members of the royal family to comply strictly with the new clothes rationing order.

Queen Elizabeth is reported already to have canceled orders for summer and fall dresses, and the clothing requirements of Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose are being cut down to rationed limits.

None of the many uniforms necessarily used by the King will be renewed until after the war.

Bandits Rob Connecticut Man of $5,242 Pay Roll

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 5.—(AP)—Two bandits, both armed with pistols, held up a restaurant proprietor here today and escaped with a brief case containing $5,252. Police Superintendent Charles H. Wheeler said one of the bandits fired a shot in a scuffle after Joseph Castellucci, the restaurant owner, knocked a gun from the hand of the other.

The pair ran to a waiting automobile and escaped.

Police said that Castellucci had just returned from a bank with cash for pay roll checks of nearly 50 factory workers.

Guards Assigned To Water System

More than a dozen armed guards last night were assigned to protect the $15,000,000 Atlanta waterworks stations and other vital points of the system pending the time when Mayor LeCraw and city administration leaders hope federal agencies will take over the job.

In conference with W. Zode Smith, waterworks manager, B. Graham West, city comptroller, and Councilman John A. White, chairman of council's finance committee, the mayor also planned a floodlighting system for night watches.

He said fire department members will assume protection of the river pumping station with its intake, from which the vital flow of water first enters the purification system.

Robert D. Scott, 13-year-old schoolboy, has achieved a triumph. Discovery of a cave unknown to modern man doesn't happen every day.

You'd think it most unlikely to happen to a New York youngster. We think of New York as all skyscrapers and concrete and congestion. Robert didn't find his cave on Manhattan, of course. That island is honeycombed with caves, but they are man-made. Subways and electric conduits and all that. He discovered his cave not far up the Hudson, near the Bear Mountain bridge. He crawled through a hole left by an earthquake of centuries ago, which had almost sealed up the entrance. That took nerve. He was rewarded by finding Indian pottery and arrowheads—but no pirates' gold, no chest of jewels. But New York, the world's biggest city if I remember accurately, is a queer town. Or its environs are. Parts of Central Park look as though they were beyond civilization. Long Island stretches so far out into the Atlantic that wild ponies are seen around Montauk Point, and deer frequently are shot. That's in commuting distance of Times Square.

You can take a bus up the Hudson—1 mean, a road beside the Hudson—and find yourself in a veritable wilderness while still in sight of the Empire State building. Archaeologists think Robert's cave was used by Algonquin Indians long before Columbus discovered America. There are no more Algonquins. There's a Manhattan hotel named for the tribe, but that's about all that's left. The Iroquois defeated or absorbed them away back yonder.

I discovered a cave once. Or shared the discovery with three other boys, summer visitors at Monticello, Tenn., where the Dixie highway crosses the Cumberland.

My Personal Cave

We found a hole in the side of a cliff close by a big spring, and one of us crawled in. The others followed. Maybe 50 feet back we were stopped by a stream. Next day we went back with ladders and candles—that was before flashlights—and ropes and balls of string and boards for a bridge, and penetrated deep into the cavern. It was filled with glittering stalactites, which hang from the roof like icicles, and stalagmites, which are built up from the floor. Both made by slowly dripping water depositing mineral. Scientists say it takes a million years or more to build some of them.

It was dark and chilly in the cave—when we came out it was like leaving an air-conditioned theater and hitting the sidewalk at 3 p. m. on a July day.

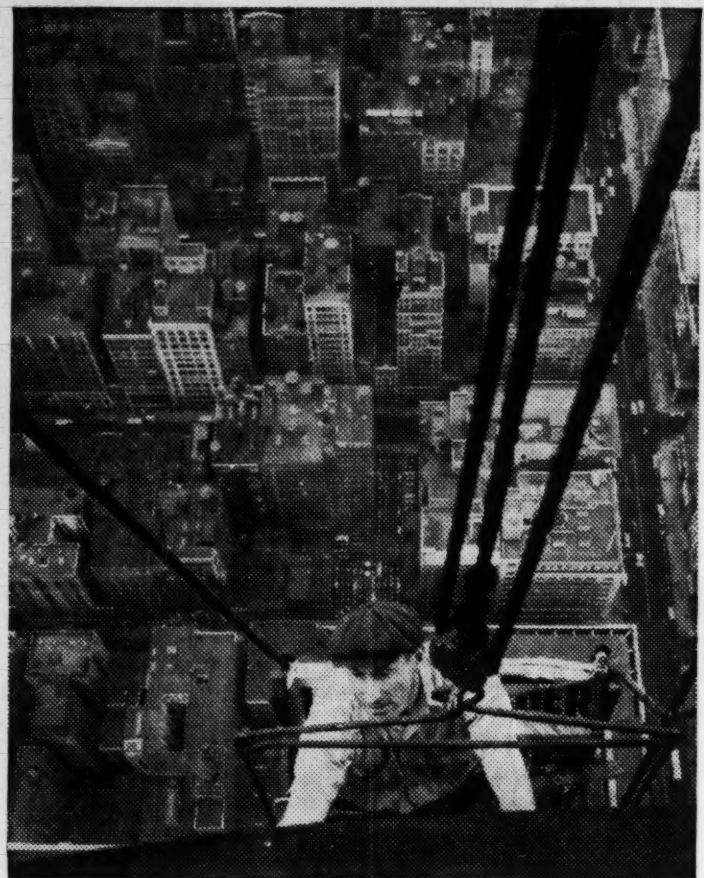

Our group had no commercial instinct. So we left the cave to take care of itself. Fifteen years later I paid a dollar a head for me and my family for admission to Wonder Cave, as it had been named. A shrewd chap had bought the land around the entrance, installed bridges and boats and electric lights and engaged guides. He was mopping up.

Wonder Cave isn't as long or as big or as magnificent as Mammoth or the Luray caverns or other highly exploited holes in the ground. But I wish I'd had the horse sense to grab it. It's mighty nice and cool at the entrance, and the water from the big spring is just above the freezing point—and I'd like to see the dollars flow in. That would be my idea of a fine profession—running a cave.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

President Roosevelt has declared a state of unlimited national emergency. The principles of freedom and liberty—the principles on which this nation was founded and built—have again been proclaimed as the principles which we will defend. I am grateful to the President for his clear and forceful statement of these principles, and I pledge anew my allegiance to him as our chosen leader, and to these deathless principles which he has so well stated. There are many points on which I have differed with the President during his administration, but this is no time for debate. It is a time for uncompromising co-operation—a time for action—and in a democracy we must follow our chosen leaders in hours of emergency, or we are defeated before we start.

Mr. Lindbergh talks about "a new leadership," but there's no method for selecting a new leadership, even if such course were deemed wise. Our one need today is all-out co-operation on the part of every citizen in helping defeat Hitlerism in this world, and to that task I commit myself without reservation.

It means hard work. And that brings to mind something that Theodore Roosevelt once said: "I extend pity to no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt he will work. I pity the man who has work worth doing, and does it well. There never has been devised, and there never will be devised any law which will enable a man to succeed save by the exercise of those qualities which have always been the prerequisites of success, namely, the qualities of hard work, keen intelligence, and unflinching will."

It means also that we must have the right spirit in our work. It is spirit which determines the effectiveness of men and nations—the right spirit. One remembers the words of great old John Wesley, when he said, "Give me a hundred men with the right spirit, and we can turn the world right side up."

And I do not hesitate to say that the only source of such right spirit is the will of God. Let us cast ourselves anew, as individuals, and then as families, and communities, and the whole vast nation, without reservation, upon the leading of the spirit of the living God. Only in such outright commitment to His will and way may we hope to possess the right spirit in our work as individuals and as a nation.

I firmly believe that the principles of freedom and liberty may be worthily sustained in this nation if and when we are willing to commit ourselves wholly to the will of God. "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord." (Psalm 33:12).

First cotton blooms are being reported to the rural press. After a while it will be "first bales." And maybe some money for the farmers. If there's any left over after they pay off their creditors. It's a weary world.

"An error was made in the list of prizes given this paper for publication last week in the essay contest in McRae-Helena High school. Inez McDuffie received $1.00 instead of 50c as third prize in Grammar School."

Mrs. Henry Honick, of Missouri, devoted three days to finding 250 four-leaf clovers to be sent to a baseball team for good luck, which strikes me as the height of something-or-other though I just can't get hold of the right word.

SEES INCONSISTENCY IN MAYOR'S CRITICISM

Editor Constitution: I see by your paper that Mayor LeCraw is scolding the parking lot operators for raising their parking fee and threatening to raise their taxes.

This does not seem consistent with the mayor's own boast that he made a contract raising the cost of hauling in wrecked and stolen cars from the streets from $1 to $2.50 and including an illegal tax of $1 per car for the city.

Many of these cars are stolen from innocent parties and also wrecked through no fault of the owners, yet the mayor has raised the hauling in cost two and one-half times and calls that good business. JOHN O. FISHER.

EDITORIAL EXPRESSED REAL AMERICAN SPIRIT

Editor Constitution: Thank you for your courageous editorial in today's Constitution advocating action now, and a shooting war to stop Hitler.

This is the real American spirit. All but fools deprived of their sight realize we must fight if we would be free men. There is no alternative, and you are certainly speaking for true Americans when you advocate fighting to preserve this freedom.

The kind of true American thinking and true American spirit that this editorial reveals is the only salvation for Americans and other peoples who value freedom above all things.

The American people will rally solidly behind courageous leadership. They are sick and tired of inaction, indecision, and defeatism.

No power on earth can stand up against 130,000,000 Americans fired with the spirit of our forefathers when they realize the principles for which we paid so dearly are threatened.

THREE-DAY HOLIDAY FOR FOURTH OF JULY

Editor Constitution: Two years ago the writer suggested to all state, county and city officials and other executives that there be a four-day holiday over the Fourth of July.

Seeing that this idea met with such overwhelming success, would it not again be timely to urge that the same kind of holiday be declared this year?

Due to the fact that the Fourth falls on Friday, the holiday should be extended through Saturday and Sunday. Most business concerns close half of the day Saturday and some close all day anyway, so let's make it unanimous and have everyone close up Saturday, July 5.

Here is an excellent opportunity for all business concerns, factories and public officials to give to their many deserving employees and their families a three-day vacation by dedicating just one more half-day of this year to human welfare.

AUSTIN ABBOTT.

DANGEROUS ELEMENTS IN OUR NATIONAL LIFE

Editor Constitution: The other day I walked in a wide, close cropped pasture field. Behind a fence Cherokee roses were in bloom, honeysuckle fragrance filled the air, and all about was the sunshine and the magical beauty and peace of the first day of June.

In this walk I came to an old broad rotten plank that had been left in the grass. I turned it over to see what forms of life I could uncover.

Instantly all kinds of loathsome creatures made haste to get out of the light and find another place of rottenness in the dark. Deadly spiders, slimy snails, squirming many-legged vermin moved about.

As I looked at these creatures of rottenness and the dark I could not resist the temptation to crush them under my feet and to some of them came quick death as they were ground into the earth.

And so it is in this beautiful America of ours. The American people want the cover removed from the rottenness and poison of the bonds and other dangerous elements in our national life. Turn the light of publicity and thorough research into the darkness of these rotten spots. And then we may be astonished to see the hideous creatures that run from the light.

We may understand why great new airplanes fall from the skies with no apparent cause; why great fires bring millions of dollars worth of loss in essential defense materials; why constantly recurring strikes paralyze the industrial life of the nation.

GUS HALL.

PEOPLE WILL ENDORSE RECENT EDITORIAL

Retiring Chief Justice Is Guest at White House

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—Retiring Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes was a luncheon guest of President Roosevelt at the White House today.

The 79-year-old jurist had nothing to say to reporters as he left the White House except that he would start on a vacation soon.

An empty house is more expensive than a Want Ad in The Constitution that will rent it.

Missionaries Find Japanese Attitude Softer

Former Atlantan Says U. S. 'Plain Talk' Is Effective.

A definite change on the part of the Japanese government toward American missionaries reported by L. Owen Still, formerly of Atlanta, who for the past four years has been associated with the Yotsuya Mission, affiliate of the Christian church, in Tokyo, Japan.

In letters to his brother, L. E. Still, of Atlanta, the most recent of which are apparently uncensored, Mr. Still writes of a visit to a large army hospital, saying that he conducted services for the wounded Japanese soldiers who were very appreciative.

"I wish that I had been going there before. Yet I doubt if I would have been permitted to a few months ago. Attitudes here have changed lately. Our country has a voice that is heard where she speaks plainly. . . ."

"Lately conditions regarding Christian work are more favorable. I understand that a few days ago some members of the diet held a conference with certain missionaries. They wanted to know why the missionaries are leaving. They were deploring the fact that many have gone and that others are going. They said that there is no law to prevent missionaries from going on with their work."

J. S. BANS 'HORSE, BUGGY' WAR

Experiments Indicate Bombing By Remote Control Is Coming

(Editor's Note: Here's the second of four daily stories by Gladwin Hill, of The Constitution special news service, setting down in non-technical language the developments in modern warfare. Tomorrow: Camouflage.)

By GLADWIN HILL.
NEW YORK, June 5.—The day of aerial battles and bombing wars executed by aviators on the ground 1,000 miles away may still be far off, but it's steadily getting nearer.

The basis of such imaginings is that old will-o'-the-wisp of aviation, the pilotless, radio-controlled airplane. It's been dreamed about for so long that flying men yawn when you mention it. But the same skepticism marked the embryo days of every notable advance, from Noah's Ark to the automobile and television. And right now there's so much smoke in the radio-plane field that there's bound to be fire not far in the offing.

Experiments Made.
In the first place, both the Army and the Navy have been experimenting with radio-controlled planes.

During recent naval operations at Honolulu it was unofficially but reliably reported that a pilotless plane, controlled by radio from another plane, was sent off from an airport and flown over cruiser units at sea.

And the Army Air Corps officers at Selfridge Field, Detroit, have been making no secrets of surprising experiments with robot ships.

The planes in use there are obsolete two-seater biplanes, converted into single-seaters, with one set of controls, operated through radio-controlled mechanism by a "flier" on the ground. The other set of controls, disconnected but usable at the flick of a switch, is in the cockpit with an observer flier, who goes along to grab the ship if it gets out of control and to save all the apparatus from being smashed.

Cost Limits Used.
The main reason these planes haven't been adopted widely for target practice and actual fighting is their cost. A two-engine plane costs around $25,000, and a bomber at least $50,000. When you have spent that much for a plane, you might as well put a man in it to make sure that it is operated correctly as to entrust uncertain apparatus to do the same job. When the cost of making a robot plane gets a lot lower, and the demand for fliers exceeds the supply more than at present, it might be feasible to put a fleet of robots in the air.

How such a ship would operate in actual combat may be imagined from the statement of an American volunteer in the British service, Patrick Breen, of New York, who thought, from its strange behavior, that he might have seen one in operation during a German bombing raid on London.

Kept Straight Course.
"The plane was a twin-engine bomber," he related, "and it was less than 5,000 feet, because I could see the insignia on its tail. Anti-aircraft guns blasted away at it, but it continued on a direct course across Victoria station in a direct line for the parliament buildings and the River Thames. "It did not change course one bit. It did not climb or glide or turn all the time it was in sight, which certainly led me to believe that the machine was radio-controlled, probably from a plane 'way up.'"

Model Demonstrated.
A model radio-controlled plane nine feet long with a 14-foot wingspread and a gasoline engine was demonstrated last month by its inventor, Verlin Haines, at Port Columbus, Ohio.

The plane nosed into the ground after a flight of two minutes, but the accident was attributed to the controls sticking and not to any fault in the radio mechanism. Haines plans to continue experimenting.

He estimated that full-sized planes on the same order, capable of 450 miles an hour, could be built for only $200, exclusive of engine cost, and that fleets of them loaded with bombs could be shot up into the path of invading bombers, or in mass flights into enemy country—with no pilots to be lost.

Denny Experiments.
Another enthusiastic experimenter with robot planes is Reginald Denny, the movie actor. He was a British aviator observer in the World War, and he got so interested in model airplanes a few years ago that he gave up acting to manufacture them.

He has developed a 14-foot wingspread radio plane, ideal for aerial target practice, with a trick parachute device he invented which floats the plane gently to the ground if it is disabled. He announced the other day that his plant had been awarded a contract to build a number of them for the Army.

So radio-controlled planes are considerably out of the pipe-dream class, and if they can be operated as effectively as the present model ones, the day is bound to come when full-size ones will be hurtling through the air on real missions.

Useless Beyond Horizon.
The main drawback in operating them, to date, is that being controlled from the ground they are useless beyond the horizon where the operator can't see what's happening to them.

But there's an answer for this problem from no less an authority than Dr. Lee de Forest, the radio pioneer, who with U. S. Sanabria, electrical engineer-inventor, is applying scientific knowledge to an idea that has occurred to a lot of people—making robot planes effective at long distances by equipping them with television mechanical "eyes."

As the radio control impulses flowed from the ground to the plane, the plane, through television lenses in its nose, would be transmitting back to the operator on the ground a view of just where it was going and what was happening to it.

KNOW YOUR MARINES
AP Feature Service
THE United States Marine Corps — America's "soldiers of the sea," has four tasks in support of the Navy:

- (1) To provide garrisons to safeguard navy yards and naval stations;

- (4) To maintain a mobile land force in readiness as part of the United States fleet for use in operations involving shore objectives.

Ranks of both commissioned and non-commissioned officers in the Marine Corps virtually correspond to those of the Army, and the pay is on the same scale. Following are the insignia of rank:

ices have agreed to contribute 50 per cent of their available tonnage of ships of 3,500 deadweight tons or more for transfer into emergency operations.

The Maritime Commission, which announced this today, originally had asked for 50 per cent of all tonnage in the two services, but agreed with representatives of the operators today to take only ships of 3,500 tons or more.

About 32 ships are involved in the transfers, which will be made as rapidly as possible, the commission said.

It was estimated the vessels would average 8,000 to 10,000
deadweight tons.

Hair Preparation Ordered Destroyed

Judge Marvin Underwood yesterday ordered U. S. agents to destroy 86 bottles of "heatless permanent wave" solution confiscated from two Atlanta beauty parlors last April following the death of a woman.

In the form of three decrees against the two firms, the destruction order was obtained by default after the beauty parlor operators failed to answer the charges concerning the chemicals.

The solution was seized because of alleged violation of the federal food, drug and cosmetics act.

Following the death of a Griffin woman, a coroner's jury declared she had been poisoned by the solution used by a beauty parlor for setting permanent waves without heat.

SALADS belong to all seasons, but they belong in a very particular way to summer. Crisp greens, chilled fruits, and vegetables and colorful, cooling molds enjoy their greatest popularity on days that are warm and bright. The hotter the day, the more appealing are crisp, succulent salads. With the advent of June let's brush up on our salad making, getting prepared to introduce a new salad idea whenever the family's appetite lags because of heat in the weeks ahead.

No salad is more popular than Combination Salad, but too often we find it lacking in sparkle and all because the dressing is not well blended. Here is an old and tested recipe. Insert a clove of garlic in a two-inch square of bread and place the bread in the middle of a large salad bowl. Line the bowl with crisp lettuce leaves and break lettuce leaves to fill the center about one-fourth full. Peel and slice two firm ripe tomatoes over the lettuce, add a cucumber peeled and sliced very thin, 4 radishes sliced crosswise, half a green pepper shredded and 2 or 3, or more, spring onions cut crosswise in thin slices. Put 1 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper in the salad spoon, fill the spoon with vinegar, and pour the vinegar down the side of the bowl, then add another spoonful of vinegar in the same way. Next fill the spoon 6 times with good salad oil, pouring it, also, carefully down the side of the bowl. Chill thoroughly for about 20 minutes and then serve, tossing the salad just at serving time to mix it thoroughly. Serve with crackers and Camembert style cheese.

Cucumber and Celery Salad is another salad favorite. Cut celery stalks into long shreds and crisp them in ice water for half an hour, then drain and dry. Peel and cut a cucumber in the same way discarding the seeds. Rub a salad bowl with a cut piece of garlic, and then nearly fill with crisp lettuce and watercress. Heap the celery and cucumber in the center, surround with thin slices of radishes and segment of hard-boiled egg. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and chopped sour gherkins. Pour 3 tablespoons French dressing over the salad just before serving and serve with mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing or cheese dressing.

Asparagus is a good salad vegetable, particularly liked when combined with fresh, ripe tomatoes. Cook asparagus tips (fresh or frozen or use canned tips), drain and chill. Peel young tomatoes and scoop out part of the inside. Sprinkle lightly with salt and then with French dressing. Arrange 6 or 8 tips of asparagus in a little bunch upright in the tomato. Slip a ring cut from green pepper over the asparagus tips and put the tomato on a bed of shredded lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise.

Zestful Salads Perk Up Meals on Sultry Days

Jellied Puree of New Peas and sliced or quartered tomatoes is another excellent combination and makes a salad that is hearty enough for a main course salad luncheon. Cook 2 cups shelled fresh peas with a sprig of mint in boiling water until tender. Drain and rub through a strainer to make a puree. Add 1 tablespoon undiluted evaporated milk to the peas and 2 teaspoons plain gelatin softened in 1-4 cup cold water. Stir to dissolve the gelatin and add more salt, a little pepper and 1-2 teaspoon grated onion. Pour into four small molds and set aside to chill and harden. Turn out on lettuce leaves and cooked eggs and quartered small tomatoes. Serve with mayonnaise.

Hawaiian summer salad is something new and is altogether delicious. Serve it as a luncheon salad with toasted cheese sandwiches or for dinner as a separate salad course. Pour one 10-1-2-ounce can condensed tomato soup in a saucepan. Add an equal amount of water and 1 teaspoon dried thyme, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 cloves, 1-4 bay leaf, 1-2 teaspoon grated onion, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 drops tabasco sauce, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne (optional). Bring to a boil and simmer slowly on the fire for 10 minutes, then strain through a fine sieve. (This should make one and three-fourths cups). While this is cooking, soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in one-quarter cup of pineapple juice. Over this pour the tomato mixture and stir until gelatin has dissolved. Add 1-3-4 cups of pineapple juice. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in 1 cup diced celery and 1-2 cup sliced, stuffed olives. Rinse a 1-quart mold in cold water and fill with mixture. Place in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on a platter. Garnish with watercress and radish roses. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing. Serves eight.

Frozen Fruit Salad.
4 ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons honey
1 cup pitted white cherries
3 slices pineapple
1-2 pint whipping cream
Mix cream with mayonnaise, add honey and mix well. Add cherries and pineapple and fold in whipped cream. Place in dish in freezing tray. Serve with this dressing:

Honey French Dressing.
1-2 cup honey
1 cup salad oil
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup chili sauce
1-2 cup vinegar
1 medium onion, grated
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Place all ingredients in a quart jar and shake well. Serve this dressing on the lettuce and place a portion of the frozen salad on top. This dressing is delicious with many other salads.

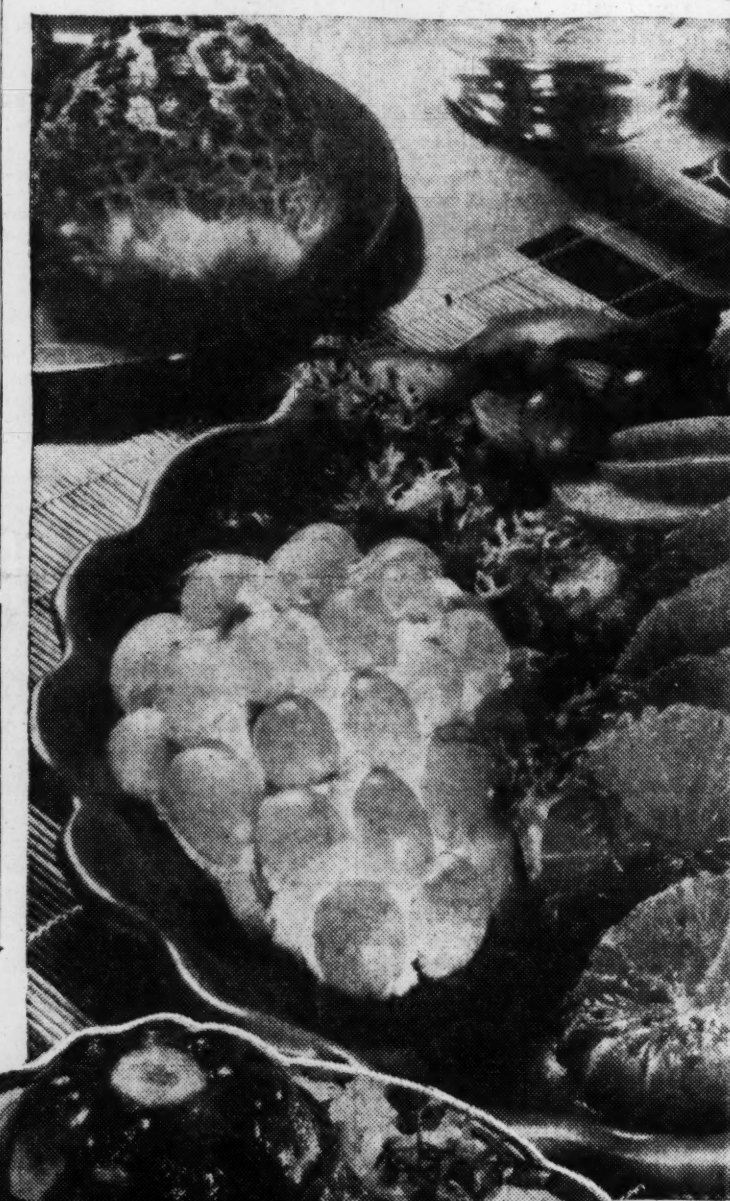

Jellied Grapefruit Salad.
1 No. 2 can grapefruit sections
1 package lemon gelatin
1 tablespoon lemon juice
dash salt
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
1-3 cup diced celery.

Drain grapefruit sections and add water and juice to make 1 3-4 cups. Heat the liquid. Dissolve lemon-flavored gelatin in hot water and grapefruit juice mixture. Add lemon juice and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Add grapefruit sections, pimiento and celery. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Molded Fish With Cucumber Sauce.
2 tablespoons gelatin
1 1-2 pounds cold cooked and flaked fish
3-4 cup mayonnaise
1-2 cup cold fish stock or water
1 1-2 cup boiling fish stock
1 pint cream, whipped
1 large, fresh cucumber
French dressing
Soak gelatin in the cold fish stock or water, add the boiling hot fish stock, water or milk, and stir until dissolved. Let cool. When mixture begins to thicken add the mayonnaise. Beat, using an egg beater, until frothy, then fold in the cream, beaten stiff. Lastly turn in lightly the flaked fish. Turn into fish or ring mold and set aside to harden. Serve cool, surrounded with shredded lettuce leaves and the cucumber, pared, chopped and drained and mixed with French dressing, or with cucumber sauce.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
Edited by SALLY SAVER

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 6, 1941.

A fruit salad plate, made of a variety of fresh or fresh and canned fruits, may have real beauty as well as goodness. This one is made of orange slices, cream cheese covered with grapes to simulate a cluster, apple slices, sliced figs and fresh red cherries. Don't forget melon balls for salads like this and to sprig with fresh mint.

Frankfurters Take Here Is a Recipe On Company Airs For Old-Fashioned

The wiener, staunch friend of picnickers, may come to the best dinner table. It doesn't come to the dinner table in a bun, of course, but in more dignified manner, grilled and served on a pretty platter, accompanied by a savory sauce. And when wieners come into the house, taking on company ways, we call them by their more dignified name, frankfurters. Make those pictured this way:

Grilled Frankfurters.
10 frankfurters.
2 teaspoons butter or margarine.
Split the frankfurters lengthwise, brush with butter or margarine and broil under moderate heat until browned. Serve with this sauce:

Onion-Tomato Sauce.
2 tablespoons bacon fat.
1 cup onions, sliced.
1 can tomato soup.
2 teaspoons sugar.
1 teaspoon vinegar.
Cook the onions in the bacon fat until soft and yellow. Then add the can of soup, sugar and vinegar. Simmer 5 minutes to blend flavors. Serve hot.

Here Is a Recipe For Old-Fashioned Spice Cake

3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon mace
1-2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, well beaten
1 cup strong coffee
1 cup raisins
Sift flour, measure and resift three times with the spices and soda. Cream butter, add sugar, and beat until light. Beat in eggs. Add coffee and flour mixture alternately, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in raisins. Turn into loaf pans and bake in a moderate oven, 350 F., until center is firm to light touch, about 30 minutes. Turn out and cool. If desired spread with icing made by blending 1 tablespoon butter with 1 pound confectioners' sugar and enough cream to give spreading consistency. Flavor to suit taste. Cut cake in squares to serve. Yields 16 to 18 servings.

Fish Is Flavorful In Mustard Sauce

If fish is dry and unappetizing, it's the fault of the cook, not the fish. The white or unfatty fish should be served with a rich, savory sauce. Try this recipe with haddock fillets:

Cut two pounds of haddock fillets in pieces for serving and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Make them into a neat pile and wrap in a clean piece of cheesecloth. Put 1-2 cup boiling water in a deep saucepan and add a slice of lemon, two sprigs of parsley and a tiny piece of bay leaf. Put the fish in the saucepan and boil gently for 10 minutes. Turn the fish over and continue gentle boiling for 15 minutes longer. Lift the package of fish from the water, drain thoroughly and turn out on a hot platter. Carefully separate the pieces of fish, sprinkle with minced parsley and pour over them a mustard sauce made as follows: Melt 2 tablespoons butter and add 3 tablespoons flour, mix well, then stir in 1 cup of the water in which the fish was cooked (strain it first) and continue stirring and cooking for 2 or 3 minutes until the sauce is thick and boiling. Add 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, salt to season and a dash of pepper.

Ideas From a Cook's Notebook

Peanut butter cookies, in which the peanut butter replaces other shortening, are fine to serve with berries or cooked fruit for dessert. Mix 1-2 cup soft peanut butter with 3-4 cup light brown sugar until the two are well blended. Add one egg and beat to a light cream. Then stir in 1-2 cup milk and 1-4 cups flour sifted with 1-2 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons baking powder. The mixture should be a thick batter. Drop from a teaspoon onto a greased sheet about 1 inch apart and bake in a moderate oven for about 10 minutes. The cookies may be garnished with halves of roasted peanuts, or with a sprinkling of powdered sugar and cinnamon—added before baking.

Lamb Pinwheels.

Put cooked lamb through the food chopper to make 2 1-2 cups packed down in the cup when measuring. Mix the chopped meat with 1 tablespoon each minced parsley, onion, chopped pimiento and pickle relish, 1 teaspoon salt and enough tomato catsup to moisten. Mix and sift 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 3 teaspoons baking powder. Rub in 4 tablespoons shortening and then add cold water to make a soft dough—about 1-2 cupful. Turn out on a floured board and roll to a scant third-inch thickness and in a rectangular shape. Spread the meat in a thick layer over the dough and roll up along the short end. Cut down in slices half an inch thick, place in a greased pan and bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes, or until the pinwheels are delicately browned. Serve hot with plenty of brown gravy.

Make these tiny dumplings and add to vegetable soup 8 to 10 minutes before it is done: Mix 1 cup flour with 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg, mix with 1-2 teaspoon salad oil and 1-3 cup milk, then stir into the flour mixture, adding more milk, if necessary, to make a very thick batter or a very soft dough. Drop from a teaspoon, using about half a teaspoonful for each dumpling.

Blueberry Bran Muffins.
1 cup bran
1 1-2 cups flour
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1 teaspoon soda
1 1-2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup washed drained berries
3 tablespoons fat, melted
Mix ingredients lightly. Half fill greased muffin pans and bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven—about 400 degrees.

Sprinkle well greased pans with browned bread crumbs, then line with leftover mashed potatoes, leaving a deep impression in the center. Brush with melted butter and brown in a quick oven. Lift carefully from the tins and fill the centers with creamed shrimp.

This salad is made of fruits molded in a zippy ginger ale base.

Frankfurters, so popular for outdoor cooking, have "table manners" when brought indoors. Split and grilled for the dinner table. Tomato soup flavored with onion makes a tasty sauce for them. Serve them arranged in pretty rows on a glass or china platter for indoor dining.

Cooking is fun if you know how it's done. Home for summer vacation, Betty Sue Booth (left) and Elena Wells go into the kitchen to toss up a salad. These girls know what they're doing because they are home economics students at Mary Hardin-Baylor College.

Air Carnival Is Made Ready For 11th Show

Sponsors Expect Attendance To Soar Above 500,000 Mark.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 5.—(P)—Airplanes vied with pretty girls for attention here today as final preparations were made for the 11th annual national air carnival—the nation's largest free aviation show.

Police estimated attendance last year at 500,000 and carnival sponsors said they expected the number to be increased at this year's show on Saturday and Sunday.

Anne Nagle, Hollywood starlet who will serve as hostess for Birmingham, arrived today along with feminine representatives of several states. They began a round of entertainment arranged by carnival officials.

One of the features of the show will be a demonstration by Captain Shelly Charles, Atlanta, of gliders similar to those used by Germany in the invasion of Crete. Seventeen other acts are on the program.

Dinah Shore, radio singer, will serve as queen of the carnival, which annually draws the nation's air-minded. "Miss America Aviation" will be crowned at a ball Saturday night.

Savings Bonds Max Schmeling Net 441 Million Found in Greece In First Month By Broadcaster

Sales Comparable to 4 Battleships, Morgenthau Says.
WASHINGTON, June 5.—(P)—Secretary Morgenthau announced tonight cash receipts from the first month's sales of defense savings bonds and stamps totaled $441,782,000.

Making a radio report to the nation on the campaign which began May 1, Morgenthau said the figures represented "a wonderful start... more than any of us in the treasury had dared to expect."

The receipts included $438,230,000 from bonds sold in denominations of $25 to $10,000 and $3,552,000 from the sale of stamps at 10 cents to $5 each. Many of the bonds were sold at discounts so that the face value of the securities sold aggregated roughly $500,000,000.

Morgenthau said the first month's sales could be measured as the cost of four battleships, or 20 cruisers, or 100 destroyers, or 4,000 pursuit planes, or 1,000 long-range bombers.

COINCIDENCE IN DEATH.
On the same day that the 260-foot North Towers of the Crystal Palace in London was felled by dynamite, the man who looked after it died. He was Sir George Wyatt Truscott, chairman of the Crystal Palace trustees. He was 83 and had worked for the City of London for nearly 60 years—as lord mayor, a member of the common council and an alderman.

Former Kaiser Leaves Minute Funeral Plans
Requests No Sermon Be Delivered, Burial Is Set Monday.

DOORN, Occupied Netherlands, June 5.—(P)—Former Kaiser Wilhelm II left minute instructions for his funeral, it was disclosed today, requesting explicitly that no sermon be delivered and enumerating Bible verses, church songs and prayers which he wished used.

The songs included the Luther hymn, "Ein Feste Burg" ("A Mighty Fortress Is Our God"). The former Kaiser, who died yesterday, will be buried Monday with military honors upon order of Adolf Hitler. Today his body rested in the small bedroom in which he died, dressed in a field marshal's uniform of the imperial German army, which he once took to war.

The German high command has taken charge of military phases of the funeral preparations. The Rev. Bruno Doehring, of Berlin's Protestant cathedral, the court preacher, will perform the rites of the Lutheran church, but will deliver no sermon.

As part of Germany's official participation in the services, Arthur Seyd-Quart, German head of the civilian administration of the occupied Netherlands, will lay a wreath on the grave on behalf of Chancellor Hitler.

Today's family arrivals included a son of the former Kaiser, Prince Oscar, and a son-in-law, Duke Ernst August, of Brunswick. Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm sent word that he would be unable to come until Sunday because he had to handle the Berlin end of the funeral arrangements.

For a Real Blush, Have Enough Iron In Your Diet

By Ida Jean Kain.

If you don't blush any more, it doesn't necessarily mean that you have outgrown the habit. It might be a sign that you are not getting enough iron, the mineral which gives your blood its rich, red hue.

The chemistry of the blood is always a mystery, but the role played by iron seems to have an importance all out of proportion to the amount actually required. Besides being necessary to the roses in your complexion, iron is a big factor in pep.

This mineral enters into the composition of the red blood corpuscles whose work it is to carry oxygen to all the tissues and to carry back to the lungs the discarded material that is to be exhaled.

Iron also plays a part, not yet fully understood, in the life processes. It is known that iron compounds are vital to the chromosomes, the determiners of individual characteristics which are transmitted from one generation to another.

Since the requirement is so small, the question naturally arises as to why anyone should suffer from a deficiency. The answer is the difficulty with which the body absorbs iron. The amount furnished by the diet is no measure of the amount that is utilized. Research along the lines of nutrition continues to bear out the general theory that the essential elements should be obtained from food, which can be depended upon to furnish more than one of the essentials. One of the latest discoveries is that unless a little copper is provided in the diet, the iron cannot be assimilated and converted into blood pigment. The requirement for copper is so small, however, and it is so widely distributed in foods that it is unlikely to be deficient.

Experiments at the University of Nebraska indicate that iron alone does not increase the hemoglobin as effectively as the addition of certain other elements. Protein and the Vitamin B complex were regarded as even more important than sufficient amounts of iron.

But, although not all anemia is caused by the lack of iron, this deficiency is a common cause and every effort should be made to meet the daily requirements established by the Committee of Food and Nutrition of the National Research Council. It is estimated that these amounts should be supplied daily: For the adult, 12 milligrams; a child up to one year, six milligrams; child from one to five years, eight milligrams; child from six to 11, 10 milligrams; adolescent boys and girls, 15 milligrams; expectant mothers and nursing mothers, 15 milligrams.

Your diet should include red meats, liver, green vegetables, whole wheat products, molasses, oysters and egg yolks. A list of YOUR DIETITIAN.

Quantities needed to furnish these foods in 100-calorie portions can be determined from the "Calorie Chart," which will be mailed to you upon request. Please enclose stamped, return envelope, large size, to Ida Jean Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Fathers Like Nice Things, Too!

The young lady in the picture will not have any trouble finding a Father's Day gift when there are so many men's toiletries to choose from. She may have trouble making up her mind as to which one, though. She has under consideration in her hands a set of shaving preparations in a delightful spicy odor put up in quaint earthenware crocks and mugs, talcum, shaving soap and shaving lotion. . . . Sketched at the top on her left is a gift

By Winifred Ware.

Men have their own cosmetic world, and Father's Day is the time for women to stick their noses into it, giving gifts that satisfy father's practical sense as well as having a touch of luxury. Every man shaves, so the problem of what to give father need not be a puzzle. If he is the type man who just likes essentials he'll be delighted with an extra special shaving cream put up in a convenient form. If he likes all the trimmings he'll be happy with a special cologne for men . . . or a set of everything he could want from shaving soap to cologne.

For the man who has everything and who likes really nice things the cologne sketched above is just the thing. It's made for men, and everything about it from packaging to odor makes this obvious. The scent is a clean, unsweet one, devoid of all feminine traces. The bottle is square crystal with a wooden cap atop it. It comes packaged in a branded, leather sack tied with leather thongs. All this is boxed in a natural wood plank box with brands and names burned into it, with leather hinges and fastenings! There's no mistaking that it's intended for a man. If he's interested in essentials you might select him shaving soap in an old-fashioned earthenware mug. Don't think he won't like the convenience of having a handle on it! The soap I'm talking about is delightfully scented with a spicy, masculine odor, and is of a fine quality he'll enjoy using. There are bottles of after shave lotion and of talc in matching earthenware crocks, too.

If you think he wouldn't like much scent to his shaving preparations, but know that he likes good ones, I know of a set for him. There's just a faint, clean tang to the line. A collection of talcum, shaving lotion, hair dressing and shaving soap would take care of all his needs, handsomely. Of course you can buy the preparations separately if your pocketbook doesn't aim this high. I'll be glad to tell you where to get any of these preparations, and their prices. Just call me at Walnut 6565 or write me in care of The Constitution, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ginger and Howard Patch Up Quarrel

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, June 5.—Ginger Rogers and Howard Hughes have kissed and made up their quarrel, and an elopement is said to be imminent. . . . Wayne Morris is going into the Navy and that is why he does not think he will be marrying Pat Stewart. "These are no times for that sort of thing," he tells me. . . . Ida Lupino gets into the mood for her murder in "Ladies in Retirement" by going into a corner and pouting. And that reminds me, Flora Robinson, who played the role so successfully in the stage version, is also pouting—because she was overlooked for the movie. . . . Olivia de Havilland is incognito in an eastern hospital.

More about "The Little Foxes" and the illness of Bette Davis. Prior to her collapse, Bette had a honey of a quarrel with Director William Wyler, ending with, "For heaven's sake, why don't you get Tallulah Bankhead for the part?" So it would seem there had been a heap of tension. However, Bette is too good a sport to stay angry long. So I guess she will be reporting for work in the near future. If she doesn't, her Warner bosses are in a fix. They borrowed Gary Cooper from Goldwyn for "Sergeant York" in exchange for Bette in the Hellman play.

Ann Rutherford was chosen "Queen of Sports Events" by a local group and was asked to pose for pictures in various athletic costumes. When she demurred, she was told, "Garbo did this sort of thing when she first came here." "Okay," replied Ann. "If it's good enough for Garbo, it's good enough for me." . . . Talking about Greta, she was on the Marx Brothers set recently and listened while Harpo said something. "That's the first time I've heard him talk," she told Groucho. "Dull, isn't he?" cracked the senior Marx brother.

Joan Fontaine received $30 worth of caviar from Boss David Selznick when she left for Tahiti last Saturday. This may or may not have been the reason for her imperial behavior toward the cameramen who covered the event. Husband Brian Aherne, who saw her off on her solo trip, is hoping devoutly that the rest will restore Joan to health and good humor.

Lana Turner and Tony Martin, who are headed for matrimony in September, recently went house hunting, and among the properties listed by the agent was the ranch belonging to Alice Faye, who used to be Mrs. Tony Martin! . . . Judy Garland, who is again working in an "Andy Hardy," says she is tired of playing a 15-year-old in pictures. "I've outgrown being Mickey Rooney's girl friend," she adds. . . . John Barrymore suggested to Sam Goldwyn that he change the title of his imminent "The Pagan" and the Burlesque Queen" to "What's Coming Off Here?"

Indifference May Win Boy's Love

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie: I go with a boy whom I love very much. He says he loves me, but he goes with other girls. He used to go with a certain girl before we started going together and sometimes he goes with her now. I have asked him to stop, but he says he thinks we are too young to just go with each other. He thinks I should go with other boys, but when I do he gets mad. I am 16 and he is 18. I don't think we should go with others, do you? Do you think he loves me or would he go with others if he did? Do you think I should stop going with him unless he did? Or should I just stop saying anything about it? How can I make him stop going with others and really be sure of his love? He drives a nice car and is popular. I think he has the big head.

TROUBLED BETTY.

Dear Troubled Betty: I am rather inclined to agree with your boy friend about you two being too young to give up your other friends. At your ages you both should be going around with all the crowd and having a good time. It is all right to have him for your beau, but don't give up all your other friends. Let him get mad if he wants to, when you go with the other boys. I don't think he becomes really mad; I think it is just a pose with him. There is a possibility that he loves you, but still wants to go with the other girls. No, do not stop going with him because he goes with the other girls. You are taking the affair too seriously. Just go on with him and have a good time. If I were you, I would not mention his dating others. If he wants to go with the other girls he will do so. There is no way for you to be sure of his love until he asks you to marry him and puts the ring on your finger. Perhaps he has the big head as you say. The thing for you to do then is to be a bit more indifferent to him. Perhaps he knows you like him a lot and that is why he treats you in such a casual way. Be a little aloof and unobtainable. It seems to me that indifference is what he needs.

VACATION PROBLEM ARISES AGAIN

Dear Dixie:

I am married to a man 16 years older than myself. We have been happy for the three years of our married life. He has four daughters, ages 17, 15, 13, 7. They do not live with us, but visit us on weekends and when school is out. I have always loved them because they were a part of their daddy, but they have grown very indifferent toward me, and I do not feel the same toward them. They said once they were visitors when they came to see us, so I treat them as such. My husband broke his leg recently. I had everything to do because he was on crutches. He bought some hogs to make extra money for us to take our vacation. He wants to go to see his brother in the north and take his mother and the two younger girls. His family have criticized me—even before we were married, and they have never offered to help us out of a tight spot. What should I do? I do not think his mother nor the girls should share in the vacation, nor do I think we should pay his brother a visit. What do you think?

WOULD LIKE TO DO THE RIGHT THING.

Dear Would Like to Do the Right Thing: The old vacation problem is rearing its ugly head again. The only sensible thing to do is for you and your husband to take separate trips. If you go along with him under the present conditions, it will not be pleasant for you or for him. There will be a certain tension, which none of you can overcome. And there would not be a very good time in store for any of you. Of course, your husband wants to see his brother. And it is natural for him to want his mother and the girls to go along too. I can understand why he should want to visit some of his kin. I can also understand why you do not want to go. If you want to be with your husband bad enough to swallow your pride, then go. If not you go your way and let him go his. I think you and your husband should sit down, have a quiet talk, and try to figure out the situation. It seems to me that if he knew the attitude existing between you and his family, he would not want to have the vacation shared. He loves you, and he also loves his daughters, so, of course, he thinks that everything will be peace and happiness on the trip. If he will not change his plans you will have to change yours.

MY DAY: British Add Another To Tales of Heroism

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK, Wednesday.—The gentle rain is falling upon us again and is greeted with joy by everyone, for it is just the right kind of rain to benefit crops and gardens.

Our drive yesterday was very pleasant and we stopped in Saratoga, N. Y., long enough to assist at the christening of a very sweet baby girl. She never cried at all when the water was poured over her head, which I am sure means that some day she is going to give her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Al William Kresse, a very hectic time. You see, I was brought up on the old superstition that babies must cry the "devil" out of them at their christening, and if they don't it will surely come out later on!

We spent the night with a friend and have now arrived home to face the usual mountains of mail which greet one after two days without any contact with the postman.

I found a rather sad letter from an old friend of the President's, who has always been very fond of the sea. Like many other people, this friend adopted an orphan during the last World War. But I think he must have taken it more seriously than the rest of us, for he has kept in touch with him and really helped him and known him well.

The other day the Daily Mail, in London, carried the story of this boy, now grown to manhood and following the sea, meeting his death, as have so many other gallant English officers, on his ship, the H. M. S. Patria. He was a first lieutenant and, when someone had to go below to free a hundred or more men who were trapped, instead of ordering a junior officer to do the job, he went himself and was never seen again, but nearly all the men on board were saved.

The story in itself will be one more tradition told on British ships on the seven seas to educate the young. It is the quotation in a letter from his wife to my husband's old friend which I want to give you. She writes:

"I am convinced that when he met this last trial, he maintained that quiet confidence, that unbreakable courage, and that smile of his that indicated peace of mind and soul. Danger at sea had always met without flinching, and this is as we must remember him. For my part, I am proud to have been his wife, even if for only eight years, and if his sons (there are two, five and two years old) grow up as straight and as fine and clean as daddy, I shall be satisfied."

This is a courageous attitude to take, but it must be hard to attain such fortitude of soul. If that is the spirit, however, in which the British face all defeats and still keep such high courage, then we may be sure that, in the end, right must triumph over might. If our own courage and determination can be at the same level, perhaps before long, might will be on the side of right.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edyth Thomas Wallace.

Father: "I think we're expecting you to do more with your allowance than is possible, Jim. Let's you and Mother and me sit down here together and do some figuring." Son: "All the boys are going to a show and my allowance is all gone." Mother: "Here's some money, but don't tell your father I gave it to you."

An allowance is of no value unless the amount is fairly decided upon and the child required to make it cover certain definite expenditures.

Rooney's girl friend," she adds. . . . John Barrymore suggested to Sam Goldwyn that he change the title of his imminent "The Pagan" and the Burlesque Queen" to "What's Coming Off Here?"

Today's Charm Tip. The commonest published complaint against wives is the habit of greeting their man every day with a recital of their days' irritations. Don't let the finger be pointed at you or you.

Woman's Quiz

Q. Is a long bob suitable for women with gray hair? A. Usually it is not. Gray hair needs more formal styling to give dignity. A more youthful effect may be achieved by showing the tips of the ears.

Q. How can we stop our cat from killing birds? A. Put a collar with a bell on the cat to give warning to birds on the ground. If you have birdhouses in trees, place a metal guard around the tree high enough to prevent the cat from springing up and securing a foothold. Some birdhouses may be suspended from limbs by means of a wire long enough to prevent a cat from getting at them.

Q. What is migetti? A. A food substitute, made by German scientists from potatoes and whey. It is similar to rice in appearance and use.

Have you a household problem to solve? Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, enclose a three-cent stamp and mail to The Woman's Editor of The Constitution, 1013 13th street, Washington, D. C. for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

The Proof of Diet's Aid to Teeth

By Dr. William Brady.

According to a widely circulated news item, a draftee in New England had a complete complement of masticating machinery and not a wee cavity in the whole mouthful. He frankly admitted he had never brushed 'em, although several other members of his family regularly brushed theirs and had the usual quota of cavities and missing teeth. The young man with the 32 sound teeth had always eaten whatever he liked. That was that. Some readers will recall that a considerable colony of people who inhabit the islands Tristan da Cunha in the South Atlantic a thousand miles west of Cape of Good Hope were in the news three or four years ago because they all have such fine teeth. Old and young, examined by a representative of the Cape Colony dental society, had extraordinarily sound teeth, and none of the inhabitants had ever used a toothbrush. Among 156 of the inhabitants examined by the dentist, 131 of all ages from childhood to 92 years had teeth entirely free from dental decay. And in 1932 Surgeon Commander Sampson, after the first medical inspection carried out by H. M. S. Carlisle, said the physique of the islanders was good, in spite of constant intermarriage in such a small community. Among the children he could find no evidence of rickets—and in the sunniest region of the United States a majority of children show signs of rickets.

The diet customary among the inhabitants of the "isles of contentment" explains, I think, not only the freedom of the children from rickets, but also the soundness of everybody's teeth—nobody on Tristan da Cunha uses toothbrush or dentifrice. The diet consists of potatoes and other vegetables such as they can grow, fish, sea-bird eggs, milk—they have cows which they use solely for milk, butter, cheese, not for meat. They have some sheep, for wool, and only at Christmas or other festive occasions are any sheep slaughtered for meat. Potatoes, milk, cheese, eggs, and such fresh vegetables as they can grow, together with whole grains when supplies are brought by occasional vessels—sometimes as long as a year from the visit of such a supply ship to the next arrival of grain. The large per capita consumption of milk—which provides not only the most assimilable form of calcium and phosphorus for teeth, bones, nervous tissue, etc., but also considerable vitamin D and vitamin A, as well as vitamin C, as the cows have plenty of grass—accounts for the marvelous teeth and the freedom from rickets of the people of Tristan da Cunha, I believe.

These observations, however, have no weight with the great Yankee wisecrack population. What appeals to their intelligence is an anonymous note such as the following quoted from a "health" magazine:

"Improved oral hygiene would result if efforts were made to overcome the present lax attitude of many people who place dependence on the dentifrice rather than on the thoroughness with which the oral cleaning is done."

So that's it! After all these years of scrubbing, it does seem a bit rough on people to tell 'em now that if they had only scrubbed more thoroughly they might have saved their teeth!

Boys and Girls! Here's Chance For Free Show

Find Pieces of Old Aluminum for Defense; That's All.

By CAROLYN MCKENZIE.
Come on, kids, let's go to the movie.

A free movie.
And you'll be doing your part for Uncle Sam, too.

Just take this afternoon off from your ball game or skating, ransack the cellar and attic, and gather up all mom's old aluminum. It's picture show money for you—and defense materials for Uncle Sam.

There is a shortage of aluminum for building airplanes. You've heard your dad talk about the war in Europe and all the things that the United States is doing to keep out and to aid Britain.

You've heard that Johnny next door is going in the Army for a year. And most of you like to play soldier. So here's your chance to be good little soldiers, and you'll have a big time in return.

Gather Aluminum.

Take this afternoon to get together your old pots and pans or automobile hub caps—anything that's aluminum. Then in the morning you can take them with you to the Fox theater, give them to the boy at the door, and he'll let you in to see the movies—absolutely free.

And just look what a swell show it'll be:

There'll be Donald Duck and Popeye, Edgar Kennedy, Gene Autry, a sports reel and an historical short. The historical angle will come through "The Flag of Humanity," which is the story of Clara Barton, founder of the Red Cross. Then you'll have Edgar Kennedy in "Sunk by the Censors" and Donald Duck in "Onion Pacific." The sports reel is entitled "Dizzy Little Bears," and there'll be one of the Unusual Occupations series about stamp collecting and Gene Autry's horse raising.

Time's 10 o'clock.

The time's 10 o'clock. Tommy Reid at the box is the manager—giving this party in co-operation with The Constitution. And all the old scrap cooking utensils will be collected by the Red Cross. Then they'll be sold to some junk dealers who're connected with the right channels to put them into defense uses. The Red Cross will take the money it gets for the aluminum and use it for buying bandages, teaching nurses, and doing all its share to preserve the country that we know today. All the employees at the Fox are giving their time free. The International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees gave them permission to work overtime without pay, so they're helping to give you this party. The Fox theater is giving you the space and the movie producers are furnishing the films you'll see.

HERE'S THEIR SHOW MONEY—These three little Edmondson brothers are all set for the free show tomorrow morning. They've got their aluminum—picture show money for them and materials for Uncle Sam's defense program. They've got their wagon filled with old pots and pans and are all set to go to the Fox theater tomorrow morning to see the free movie. They are, left to right, Gordon, Sidney and Frank. And that's Jack, their dog, with them. They're the sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Edmondson Jr., of 653 Cresthill.

You can't buy a ticket with money. You have to have a piece of aluminum to get in.

New Drug Found For Tuberculosis

CLEVELAND, June 5.—(AP)—A new drug which offers a hope, but only a hope, to tuberculosis sufferers was reported today to the American Medical Association.

In announcing it and its tentative use on more than 75 patients, Drs. Corwin Hinshaw and William H. Feldman, of Mayo clinic, hastened to warn persons with tuberculosis against expecting immediate cure. Until the drug is proven or disproven, they claim nothing.

Its effectiveness on humans cannot be determined because none of their patients has died and given them a chance to examine lungs.

It is a combination of sulphur and sugar, a cousin compound of the old sulphur and molasses spring remedy of grandmother's day.

Dr. Fred Wharton Rankin, of Lexington, Ky., was named president-elect of the association at a meeting of its house of delegates. He will succeed Dr. Frank H. Lehey in 1942.

French Government Orders Arrest of Jews

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 5.—(AP)—The government announced tonight that Vice Premier Darlan had ordered a police "cleanup" of foreign Jewish refugees on the Riviera in which 47 already had been sent to internment camps and 400 others assigned to forced residence elsewhere.

"This cleanup," it was added, "is continuing."

Many refugees were claimed to have been active in illegal trading. The Paris press a week ago reported the arrest on the Riviera of 65 foreign Jews who were sent to prison camp at Vernet and of 250 who were assigned to forced residence.

SCOUT CAMPAIGN. AMERICUS, GA., June 5.—

Controversy British Fleet Is Blamed for Blockades Off Syria's Coast

Georgia and Florida Ships Isolate Conflict Area From Support Overseas.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(UP)—Earl T. Gesler, of the office of the chief of engineers, today told a House Military Affairs Committee that controversy over whether a Georgia or Florida firm would supply asphalt for runways at the Elgin Field airbase had caused a month's delay.

Fred T. Bridges, vice president of Allied Materials, Inc., Atlanta, testified that his firm was low bidder by $50,000 for 3,600,000 gallons of asphalt but that he could not get shipping orders on the material because Senator Claude Pepper, Democrat, Florida, "put on the pressure" in behalf of Pan-American Petroleum Company, which bid through its Pensacola office.

Gesler said that the improvement project at Elgin Field, being done by the War Department and Works Projects Administration, would be finished by November 1.

Under a compromise and after a month's delay, both Allied Materials and Pan-American furnished asphalt for the Elgin Field runways.

Bridges said that, at his request, Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, and Representative Robert Ramspeck, Democrat, Georgia, asked War Department officials why Allied Materials did not immediately receive the contract after it submitted a low bid.

Group Seeks To Beautify Georgia Roads

Richard C. Job Heads Committee for Improvements.

Beautification of Georgia's highways will be sought by the Co-operative Committee for Roadside Improvement, which was organized yesterday with Richard C. Job, director of the State Planning Board, as chairman.

The committee will attempt to eliminate unsightliness on highways through co-operative agreements with property owners, outdoor advertising companies, roadside establishments and others.

Named to work with Job were Dean Paul W. Chapman, of the University of Georgia College of Agriculture, vice chairman, and Neil Printup, of the Associated Petroleum Industry of Georgia, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the committee was set out in a resolution which said:

"Whereas, the Co-operative Committee for Roadside Improvement, cognizant of certain commercial abuses, which detract from the natural beauty of Georgia's roadways, and desirous of bringing about a material improvement of existing commercial enterprise along highways through these extended areas, and
